

Camarilla Genre Packet

Version 3.0

Last Updated 2019 April 22

The following document is for supplemental purposes only—no copyright infringement is intended. It is not intended for profit or official representation of White Wolf Publishing and/or their subsidiaries. Written information, including all names, abbreviations, and anything related to White Wolf's "World of Darkness" and "Vampire: the Masquerade" are copyright White Wolf Publishing. The creators, editors, and so on of this document do not represent White Wolf Publishing, in any capacity. The packets and guides are written and designed by One World by Night (OWbN) and are in order to specify modifications to the system provided in our work, as deemed necessary by the organization pursuant to White Wolf requests as part of Dark Pact guidelines. Portions of this material are copyrighted and trademarks of White Wolf Publish AB, and are used with permission. All rights are reserved. For more information please visit <http://www.white-wolf.com>.

Credits

- Jeff Cauley, Camarilla Coordinator 2015-2020
- Akira Barnes, Geoffrey Bayley, Tracy O'Malley, William Wadhams, and Maja Zaccara for their outstanding work in designing the Status rules.
- Roddy Carroll for all his hard work on making the Societies even better than they were!
- Members of the Shadow Coterie, the Camarilla SubCoordinator team of 2015-2020.
- LA Reger, Maja Zaccara, Jonathan Slack, and Akira Barnes for their formatting and editing work.
- All the other various Coordinators, SubCoordinators, and Storytellers that contributed ideas.
- The past Camarilla Coordinators and SubCoordinators for their work on previous versions of this packet and suggestions made on the revisions to this one.
- The Administrators of UnMasqued for generously sharing their amazingly comprehensive Lore Guide.
- All the players that participate in Camarilla Genre. So much of this has been forged by your roleplay and ideas!

Table of Contents

STATUS	3
ACKNOWLEDGEMENT	4
PROBATIONARY SECT MEMBER	4
STATUS LIMITS	4
CHARACTER CREATION	5
GRANTING & REMOVING STATUS	6
REMOVING ACKNOWLEDGED STATUS	6
TEMPORARY STATUS EXPENDITURES	6
POSITIONS IN THE CAMARILLA	7
TITLES IN THE CAMARILLA	12
MERIT-BASED TITLES	13
ORGANIZATIONAL TITLES	14
POLITICS ABILITY	14
LOANING STATUS	15
NEGATIVE STATUS	15
BLOOD HUNTS	19
DOMAIN WIDE NEGATIVE STATURE	19
BOONS	20
DEATH AND BOONS	22
MERITS &amp; FLAWS	23
CAMARILLA LORE GUIDE	25
CAMARILLA ORDERS AND SOCIETIES	29
SANCTIONED ORGANIZATIONS	29
JOSIANS	29
E DIVISION	31
MASQUERADE UNIT TECHNOLOGY ENFORCEMENT (M.U.T.E.)	33
THE IVORY LEGION	35
CULTS	40
PHANUEL'S CALL	40
EDENIC GROUNDSKEEPERS	44
OTHER SOCIETIES AND GROUPS	46
THE EYES	46
THE HAGUE	46
LOYAL OPPOSITION	46
RESOURCE LINKS	46

STATUS

Status defines the level of respect or social renown that a Kindred has within Camarilla society. It determines the weight with which a Kindred's word should be regarded, their position in the social hierarchy, and serves as a measure of their accomplishments and character in the eyes of the Society. The ebb and flow of one's reputation has a serious effect on a character's life even in modern nights. A Character's Total Status is comprised of their Personal, Positional, and Honorary Status with certain caps listed below.

Respect cannot be quantified by sheer numbers however, and while those that are held in higher regard can be seen as more respected than those with less standing, the granter of a measure of Status is almost as important as having the Status itself. Likewise, the deed for which recognition is earned plays a role in what the Status means to others. After all, being praised by a Justicar or Prince should be far more meaningful than the Primogen of a small unknown Domain.

Status should always be difficult to gain, easy to lose, and even harder to regain. There is no hard and fast rule to handle every single scenario that may come up during game. Backroom deals, manipulation and subterfuge are, after all, the bread and butter of Camarilla genre -- and being cleverly sneaky is not only allowed but encouraged. However, it should be noted that the rules and guidelines presented in this packet constitute what is commonly perceived as proper behavior and genre. Although there are deliberate gray areas and room for bending the rules, finding oneself on the wrong side of scandal is a real possibility for those treading these fine lines. There is no statute of limitations on scandals. They do not expire, nor do they have a "timer" during which they can be used against you by a driven Harpy. The memories of immortal creatures can be very long, and you might find yourself being punished for something you did years ago.

Kindred who are not Acknowledged members of the Camarilla cannot hold other Camarilla Status. Therefore, Camarilla Status cannot be granted to an Independent or to a member of the Sabbat.

When a Kindred is visiting a Domain, he is subject to the will and laws of that Prince and the Officers of that Domain. If he misbehaves or earns the ire of his hosts, he may be punished in any fashion the hosting Officers see fit, within their roles. By the same token, an outstanding visitor may be honored with an award of Status before he leaves.

While in general a host's power over his guests is limited to the duration of the visit, it is neither impossible nor unheard of for a Harpy or another Officer to attempt to strip Status or apply Negative Status to a visitor after he or she departs for something he did during his visit. It may be much more difficult to do so after the offender is home again, as the Harpy of that Domain may have his own opinions about the scandal, but fleeing a Domain within which crime or scandal was committed should not automatically mean that the perpetrator is safe from the consequences of his actions. Should there be contention by another Harpy over whether or not the actions of the Domain Officer in which the situation happened is legitimate, the Harridan may be consulted for a final decision.

Players should always keep track of their Status on their character sheets or by any other means they deem suitable. Many players find it useful to log their Status into the Camarilla Wiki, which makes it easier for others to expend Politics to learn a character's Status as well. Information such as the Status trait itself, who awarded it, why it was given, and a rough idea of when it was gained are all things a player should know. If they can't remember who or why someone granted them Status, it likely wasn't important -- and a Harpy may opt not to recognize it as having been granted in the first place. Or, they may consider memory of the deed faded enough that you clearly don't deserve it, and claiming it is scandalous. Any OOC disputes on this should be resolved by the Storytellers.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The social life of a Kindred begins with his Acknowledgement. Until Acknowledgement, a vampire under the Accounting has no rights, and his accomplishments and misdeeds falls upon the Sire's (or whomever holds the Accounting's) head. When the Accounting is completed and the Sire feels the child is ready to be introduced in the Camarilla society, he is presented to the local authorities and ultimately the Prince, who may or not grant him his Acknowledgment. As such, Acknowledged is always the first Status Trait given to a member of the Camarilla and the last to be removed.

Gaining Acknowledgment in the Camarilla is to be considered a full member of the Sect. While a Kindred under the Accounting is often afforded some considerations, it is not until a Kindred is Acknowledged that they can occupy Camarilla positions or hold additional Positive Status.

Characters that relinquish their Acknowledgement are automatically given the Flaw: Notoriety that cannot be lost for a minimum of a year and a day after the Acknowledgment is regained. To remove the Notoriety earlier, the Character may petition the Harridan or a Justicar who may chose to repeal it but usually only by giving the character an Ordeal or task to prove their loyalty to the Camarilla.

PROBATIONARY SECT MEMBER

As per the Baltimore Conclave of 2015, any Camarilla Kindred who does not go through the Accounting when joining Camarilla shall be given the flaw Probationary Sect Member. This flaw may be removed by either their resident Prince after they have held Acknowledgment in that Domain for at least a year and a day, or sooner by going through a Justicar with the sponsorship of their Prince. Kindred who have gone through the Accounting are not required to undergo a period of Probation. A Prince may still give the Probationary Sect Member flaw to Kindred they Acknowledge even if they did go through a period of Accounting, particularly if they were part of another group prior to joining the Camarilla or if there was some irregularity regarding their Accounting.

Additionally, any character that joins the Camarilla after defecting from another Sect will acquire the Probationary Sect Member flaw for the same durations listed above even if they undergo an Accounting to join the Camarilla. One's loyalty to the their Sect must be proven more so when defecting.

STATUS LIMITS

For Camarilla PCs, the Status Limit is set at 6 Personal plus the Positional Status from one position and up to 3 Honorary Status. Camarilla NPCs may have up to 7 Personal Status. Each Personal Status possessed by an NPC beyond their 7th requires Camarilla Coordinator Approval. Additionally, certain modifiers to the Status Cap exist. Unless specifically noted, these modifications stack with one another:

- Pillar Clan: You belong to one of the core Clans of the Camarilla, and as such you may claim your full measure of Status. You are either a member of the Founding Clans of the Camarilla (Brujah, Gangrel, Malkavian, Nosferatu, Toreador, Tremere, or Ventrue) or a Respected Clan of the Camarilla (Children of Haqim or Lasombra-Antitribu).
  - Limit Modification: None.
- Subjacent Clan: You do not belong to one of the core clans of the Camarilla, and as such you may not claim the full Status that a Pillar Clan member can.
  - Limit Modification: Minus 1 to your Personal Status
- Clanless: You do not know which Clan sired you, or have been driven out of your Clan and are considered Clanless. As result, you are looked down upon by those who do. Worse than not being the childe of a Founding or Respected Clan is not knowing which one you belong to - or being disinherited by your Clan of Embrace.
Limit Modification: Minus 2 to your Personal Status. This reduced cap is not cumulative with the one presented for the Subjacent Clan.
- Additional Personal Status: This is an award made by some of the most prominent and respected figures in the Camarilla. As this additional standing is granted by someone of great repute, people should give great thought to stripping this standing.

Once this Merit is awarded, the character has a permanent modification to the limit of their Personal Status. Should they later fall below their limit, they can regain up to 7 Personal Status, however recovering from such a fall is not an easy task and, while not required, the final Status should come from someone greatly respected within the Camarilla.

- Associated Merit: Additional Personal Status
  - Limit Modification: Plus 1 to your Personal Status.
- Infamous Sire / Lineage: Due to the foul deeds of your Sire or your Lineage, you are seen as an infamous Kindred. Should you be from Infamous blood and gain the Reputation Merit, you are considered to have superseded the notoriety of your breeding and you gain the benefit of that Merit, removing the Infamous Sire/Lineage Flaw from yourself and your childer.
    - Associated Flaw: Infamous Sire / Lineage
    - Limit Modification: Minus 1 to your Personal Status.
  - Notorious: You are not as well seen as members of the Camarilla in good standing, due to your own actions. The Camarilla does not look kindly upon those that cannot behave themselves. You cannot go from having Notoriety to having Reputation without first losing the Flaw, as one needs to first move past their errors in order to rebuild their reputation. A character may be given the Notoriety Flaw for heinous deeds by their Storytellers and sometimes at the recommendation of a Coordinator (with Storyteller approval). However, Notoriety will also be given automatically to those that lose their Acknowledgement.
    - Associated Flaw: Notoriety
    - Limit Modification: Minus 1 to your Personal Status.
  - Sovereign Prince Title / Venerable Honorary Status: A Prince recognized to be Venerable is granted more Honorary Status than others in the Camarilla.
    - Associated Merit: Sovereign Prince
    - Limit Modification: Plus 1 to your Honorary Status.

CHARACTER CREATION

At character creation, a Camarilla character may enter play with Acknowledged at no cost. Characters may purchase one (and only one) additional Personal Status with Storyteller Approval. Additionally, they may purchase Merits that grant Camarilla Titles (with Camarilla Coordinator Approval, see below).

Additionally, Lasombra Antitribu have an altered Clan Advantage from the one presented in Laws of the Night. Their new advantage lets them start with the Honorary Status of Respected as they bear the title of Scion.

GRANTING & REMOVING STATUS

Certain Officers and entitled Camarilla citizens may grant or remove Status to others of the Sect. Granting and removing Status Traits, either Positive or Negative, must be done publicly, be it at an assembled gathering or an e-mail announcement over a public list. Such changes must always be logged with a Harpy and should be announced publicly.

While there is no set time by which Personal Status may be granted or removed, climbing the social ladder too quickly by gaining multiple Status Traits in a short period of time or by gaining recognition too quickly after being involved in a scandal can itself be seen as highly scandalous for both the Kindred receiving the award and the one giving it.

If the motives for granting Personal Status come into question, the Harpy may initiate an investigation. The Harpy has the power to strip the Status Trait, as well as a Status Trait from the one who has granted it, if the exchange is viewed as scandalous.

Positional Status may never be permanently removed, but any Camarilla member with the authority to strip Personal Status can temporarily strip Positional Status under the same circumstances. In such cases, the powers of the Position remain.

REMOVING ACKNOWLEDGED STATUS

The Elders of the Camarilla do not take lightly to the casual use of this authority. Removing Acknowledged was once used as a trite way to punish someone for minor offenses, to successfully secure the throne in a Praxis contest, or to have individuals Re-acknowledged by a more prestigious or desirable Prince. As such, this authority was removed during the 2015 Ravenna Conclave and only recently restored. Should a Prince be found to once again be using this authority for casual reasons, they are likely to find themselves before a Justicar.

While very uncommon, the Status of Acknowledged can be stripped from a character that holds no position within the Camarilla. This action may only be done by the authority of a Prince or Justicar and even then, only as a last resort. Acknowledged must be the final status lost, meaning all other Personal Status must be first stripped from the character on prior nights. This severe action is often taken to mark someone as a traitor to the Sect but in a situation where action beyond a Blood Hunt is warranted. This can be done in conjunction with a Blood Hunt or in lieu of one.

Once lost, the Acknowledged status can be restored by a Prince but the character will automatically garner the flaw Probationary Sect Member; one who is kicked out of the Camarilla will be closely watched should they ever return. This flaw will remain for at least a full year after Acknowledged regardless of the circumstances of their return or conditions met before their Acknowledged status was restored. If a character wishes to have this flaw removed early, they may do so by seeking out a Justicar as outline in the Probationary Sect Member area of this packet. Additionally, if the character does regain their Acknowledged status, the Prince that stripped it might find themselves being looked at by a Justicar or the Harridan. The power to strip Acknowledged has been abused in the past and the Camarilla does not wish to see a return to old, bad habits.

TEMPORARY STATUS EXPENDITURES

There are times when a character may temporarily expend their Personal Status such as when certain positions use it to grant or remove Status. Much like with Attribute Traits, expending Temporary Status reduces your effective Status for the duration of the session (which may last multiple evenings at a weekend event). This reduces both the number of bonus Traits you can bid on a tie (if using Status for social challenges, per Laws of the Night, Revised, pg. 218), and the number of granting/stripping of Personal status you can perform. Your Temporary Status will recover at the beginning of the next session you check into - or two weeks after the Temporary Status is spent if you do not attend another session beforehand.

It should be noted that a Kindred's Permanent Status is used when comparing their words to that of another Kindred. Simply because they've expended some of their Temporary Status does not mean that their clout or the strength of their words should be somewhat lessened for the session.

POSITIONS IN THE CAMARILLA

The Camarilla is governed by various different positions that serve different functions. These common, recognized positions grant bonus Status referred to as Positional Status and some have the ability to grant or remove the Personal Status of others. In OWbN, some jobs have extra authority beyond what was originally published. In such cases, that extra responsibility will be listed. Additionally, while some Kindred may find themselves holding multiple positions simultaneously, they may only claim the status of one position at a time.

Several offices have lesser positions or assistants These assistant positions do not gain a Positional Status Trait. However, in order to be named, the parent position needs to loan one of their Status Traits and announce the appointment. While it is possible to have "secret" assistants and thus not loan them standing, they do not officially gain the benefits of the parent position.

Lesser positions include:

- Whips that serve a Primogen
- Stewards that serve a Keeper of Elysium
- Deputies that serve a Sheriff
- Hounds that serve a Scourge
- Lesser Harpies that serve a Harpy
- Servire that serve an Archon

Note: Player Characters and Chronicle NPCs may only hold Domain Positions in areas that are controlled by Chronicles. Coordinator controlled territory and neutral territory may not be used in this fashion. Domain Positions being: *Prince, Seneschal, Primogen, Harpy, Sheriff, Keeper of Elysium, Scourge, Consul, and Assistants.

- Justicar (Coordinator NPC Only) - These are the agents of the Camarilla that work to resolve matters that of significance on a global scale.
  - Positional Status Gained: Exalted, Formidable, Just, Respected, Well-Known (5)
  - Granting Personal Status: May give Personal Status to any member of the Camarilla, in any Domain, at any time. Should those grants total more than 5 Traits in a single evening, additional awards require a Temporary Status be expended.
  - Granting Negative Status: May grant Warned, Incompetent, Guilty, Despoiler, Malcontent, Shameful, Scandalous, and Pariah in any Domain so long as the character meets the requirements of the Negative Status. In working with the Josian Council of Invisibles, they may also levy the Profane negative status.
  - Removing Personal Status: May remove Personal Status from any member of the Camarilla, in any Domain, at any time. Should these removals total more than 5 Traits of Status from the same person on a given evening, additional removals will require a Temporary Status to be expended per Status Trait removed. A Justicar may even remove the status of Acknowledged (see Removing Acknowledged Status, pg 6.)
- Alastor (NPC Only) - Those agents that hunt the Anathema, the Red-Listed enemies of the Camarilla.
  - Positional Status Gained: Feared, Sanctioned (2)
  - Removing Personal Status: May remove Personal Status from any Camarilla member that hinders their official missions at the cost of one Temporary Status for each removal.
- Archon (Coordinator NPC, Chronicle NPC or PC with Camarilla and Clan Coordinator Approval. PC's will always require a signed Binding Agreement. Chronicle NPCs may not have a Binding Agreement with Coordinator consent) - The eyes, ears, and hands of the Justicariate. Archons are often the agents in the field that bring information to their Justicars.
  - Positional Status Gained: Empowered, Feared, and Loyal (3)
  - Removing Personal Status: May remove Status if expressly allowed by their Justicar, following the same rules as the Justicars. In addition, Archons may remove Personal Status from any Camarilla member that has interfered with a Justicarial investigation at the cost of one Temporary Status Trait for each removed
  - Granting Negative Status: May grant Guilty in any Domain so long as the character meets the requirements of the Negative Status.
- Harridan (Coordinator NPC Only) - With recent events causing a stir in the social tapestry of the Camarilla (such as the public dispute between two claimants for Justicarial seats, the Extremis Boon from Clan Toreador and the need for supervision over international virtual communications), it has become clear that the Camarilla, and by extension the Justicariate, needs someone to mediate higher level matters.

This role is not a new one; historically, it was previously held by Lana di Medici before being disbanded in early 2000s, with the Justicariate trusting their own Archons to handle these sorts of affairs. However, with enemies new and old resurfacing and their other duties taking a more prominent role for the Justicariate, there is once again a need to reinstate the position in order to handle the mediation of cross-Domain scandals that cannot be resolved by local authorities.

The Harridan has the same powers as a regular Harpy but on a global level, as well as additional authority related to giving specific negative Status. Each Justicar loans the holder of the seat one of their Personal Status. The Harridan can name assistants who are known as Furies to act as its eyes and ears throughout the world, much as a Justicar employs Archons.

- Positional Status Gained: Famous, Influential, Well-Connected, Well-Known (4)
  - Granting Negative Status: May grant Warned, Oathbreaker, Incompetent, Guilty, Despoiler, Malcontent, Shameful, Scandalous, Overambitious, and Pariah in any Domain so long as the character meets the requirements of the Negative Status.
  - Removing Personal Status: May remove Personal Status from any member of the Camarilla in any Domain for committing scandal. The removal costs the Harridan nothing, must be publicly announced, and the scandal must have at least a grain of truth to it.
  - Removing Negative Status: May remove Negative Status from any member of the Camarilla in any Domain by spending a Temporary Status for each Negative Status removed.
- Fury (Coordinator NPC or PC with Camarilla Coordinator Approval and a signed Binding Agreement) - Furies are agents of the Harridan. They are the eyes and ears of the office. They scour rumor and scandal and present it to the Harridan much in the same way an Archon serves a Justicar. The Furies have the delegated powers of the Harridan just like a Lesser Harpy, with their decisions being able to be revoked by the Harridan but otherwise having to be just as respected.

As it is known that often Harpies are threatened for doing their duties, in order to allow for some level of safety to those that carry the mantle of Fury, each of them has an alias selected from among Greek mythological entities that may be passed along to their successor. As such, the proclamations of the Furies and the Harridan Office remain anonymous for the Camarilla at large, although their identities are known by the Justicariate. Since they maintain an alias, Furies are not required to publicly reveal their identity. However, should they opt to remain secret, they cannot claim their positional Status, since their membership is not publicly known.

Since the Harridan's Furies represent the proper standard of behavior for Camarilla citizenry, should a Fury become embroiled in scandal, their membership will likely be revoked -- much as an Archon who has embarrassed their Justicar.

- Positional Status Gained: Influential, Well-Connected, and Empowered (3)
  - Granting Negative Status: A Fury may grant Warned, Oathbreaker, Incompetent, Guilty, Despoiler, Scandalous, Overambitious, and Malcontent in any Domain so long as the character meets the requirements of the Negative Status.
  - Removing Personal Status: May remove Personal Status or Negative Status following the same rules with the authorization of the Harridan.
- Herald (Coordinator NPC Only) - The Herald has been a role that has been part of the Camarilla for a few decades now and serves as the representative for those Lasombra that claim membership among the Ivory Tower.

On the surface, some might think of the Herald as a form of lesser Justicar but there pretty significant differences. One Justicar is selected from each of the Founding Clans but their responsibilities are to the Camarilla as a whole, not just those of their Clan. A Herald's duties are more tied to their Clan. They do not involve themselves in just any investigation as a Justicar might, but rather focus on areas of concern particularly tied to the Lasombra within the Camarilla.

Most notably, these interests include the observation and tracking of the use of Obtenebration and, in very rare cases, Abyssal Mysticism among the Camarilla citizenry as well as confirming the lineage and veracity of Camarilla Lasombra. The Herald often works with the Justicariate on any matters that need a heavier hand and additionally coordinate with Princes and their officers on local matters.

- Positional Status Gained: Famous, Respected, and Exalted (3)
- Removing Honorary Status: The Herald possess one of the few methods of removing Honorary Status within the Camarilla. The Herald may strip the Honorary Status of Respected from any Lasombra Antitribu. This removal can only be done by the joint authority of the Lasombra Coordinator and the Camarilla Coordinator.
- Prince (PC, Coordinator NPC, or Chronicle NPC) - The Prince is the absolute ruler of a Camarilla Domain. Therein, his word is absolute.
  - Positional Status Gained: Exalted, Famous, Well-Known, and Distinguished. (4).
  - Granting Negative Status: A Prince may grant Warned, Incompetent, Guilty, Despoiler, Scandalous, Overambitious, and Malcontent in their Domain so long as the character meets the requirements of the Negative Status.
  - Granting Personal Status: May give Personal Status to any member of the Camarilla physically present in his Domain at the cost of one Temporary Status for each award.
  - Removing Personal Status: May remove Personal Status from any member of the Camarilla physically present in his Domain at the cost of one Temporary Status for each removal. A Prince may even remove the status of Acknowledged (see Removing Acknowledged Status, pg 6.)
- Seneschal (PC, Coordinator NPC, or Chronicle NPC) - The Seneschal is the aid, advisor, and second of the Prince. He often serves in the Prince's stead when they are unavailable.
  - Positional Status Gained: Cherished, Esteemed, and Trusted (3)
  - Granting Negative Status: A Seneschal may grant Warned or Scandalous so long as the character meets the requirements of the Negative Status.
  - Granting Personal Status: May grant Personal Status in the absence of the Prince, who may overturn the Seneschal's award of standing.
  - Removing Personal Status: Seneschals may remove Personal Status in the absence of the Prince, who may overturn the Seneschal's removal of standing.
- Harpy (PC, Coordinator NPC, or Chronicle NPC) - The gossip and rumor mongers of a Domain, they also serve as the social judges of the Camarilla.
  - Positional Status Gained: Influential and Well-Connected (2)
  - Granting Negative Status: A Harpy may grant Warned, Oathbreaker, Incompetent, Guilty, Despoiler, Scandalous, Overambitious, and Malcontent in their Domain so long as the character meets the requirements of the Negative Status.
  - Removing Personal Status: May remove Personal Status at no cost from any Camarilla member who has backed out of a Boon, become embroiled in scandal, or committed crimes against the Camarilla, as long as there is some truth to the scandal and the scandal happens within her jurisdiction. Harpies may restore Personal Status they have themselves removed at the cost of one Temporary Status for each Status thus restored..
  - Lesser Position: Lesser Harpies may remove Personal Status temporarily. While they can specify a shorter period, the maximum time they can impose is one month. By making a public statement, the Harpy may make the stripping permanent.
  - Note: A Harpy is appointed by the Primogen Council and is customarily shown support by the Primogen. This support takes the form of a bonus Temporary Status per supporting Primogen that the Harpy can call upon when conducting affairs of their office. This is not considered a loan from the Primogen but rather the weight of their name behind the Harpy they support. Should a Primogen feel that the Harpy is not properly doing her job, they can temporarily, or in extreme cases, permanently remove their support from the Harpy. This bonus is considered loaned status for determining how much status can be loaned to the Harpy; the support a Harpy draws from the Primogen may not exceed that of her combined Personal and Positional Status (not Honorary Status).

- Primogen (PC, Coordinator NPC, or Chronicle NPC) - Advisors and confidants to the Prince. In many Domains, Primogen are appointed by Clan, however this is not necessarily true everywhere. In some Domains, Primogen are chosen from those Kindred that have the most to offer the Domain. In other cases, Primogen are given a portion of territory to adjudicate over on their Prince's behalf.

- Positional Status Gained: Revered (1)
- Granting Personal Status: May give Personal Status to a Clanmate or Camarilla member otherwise under the purview (as mentioned, some Domains do not chose Primogen by Clan). In either case, the Camarilla member must be physically present in the Domain and the Primogen must expend one Temporary Status for each award.

Additionally, The Primogen Council may collectively band together to grant their Prince Status in a show of support of his reign. To do so, they must all temporarily expend their positional Status trait of Revered and publicly announce the standing granted.

- Granting Negative Status: A Primogen Council of a given Domain may band together to collectively (and unanimously) bestow the Negative Status of Incompetent on their Harpy. They may also grant the negative status of Warned to Kindred under their purview.
- Removing Personal Status: May remove Personal Status from a member under his purview physically present in his territory at the cost of one Temporary Status for each removal.

Additionally, the Primogen Council may remove a Personal Status from their Prince by collectively expending Permanent Personal Status equal to the Prince's Total Status. This may require one or more Primogen to spend more than one Personal Status. Who expends which Trait(s) should, of course, be decided through role play.

- Lesser Position: Whips may remove Personal Status only in the absence of the Primogen.

- Keeper of Elysium (PC, Coordinator NPC, or Chronicle NPC) - The organizers and protectors of the Elysia of the Camarilla. Often serve as monitors of the Masquerade within a Domain.

- Positional Status Gained: Honorable (1)
- Granting Negative Status: A Keeper of Elysium may grant Warned or Despoiler in their Domain so long as the character meets the requirements of the Negative Status.
- Removing Personal Status: May remove Personal Status at no cost from any Camarilla member physically present in his Domain who is caught breaking the Masquerade or violating Elysium. The Sheriff is immune to the Keeper's powers to remove Status, but not the consequences of their actions.
- Lesser Position: A Steward may remove Personal Status only in the absence of the Keeper of Elysium.

- Sheriff (PC, Coordinator NPC, or Chronicle NPC) - The lawkeepers and the muscle of the Prince. They are often called upon to protect the Domain from all manner of threats.

- Positional Status Gained: Feared (1)
- Granting Negative Status: A Sheriff may grant Guilty or Warned in their Domain so long as the character meets the requirements of the Negative Status.

- Removing Personal Status: May remove Personal Status at no cost from any Camarilla member physically present in his Domain who refuses to accompany him for questioning or judgment. Additional duties may be assigned to a Sheriff by their Prince, under the Tradition of Domain which might allow for further possibilities of removal.
- Lesser Position: A Deputy Sheriff may remove Personal Status only in the absence of the Sheriff.
- Scourge (PC, Coordinator NPC, or Chronicle NPC) - Those that hunt and destroy the unacknowledged Kindred that seek to hide from the Ivory Tower.
  - Positional Status Gained: Feared (1)
  - Removing Personal Status: May remove Personal Status at no cost from any Camarilla member physically present in his Domain that is discovered to be harboring or abetting vampires created without the Prince's permission or that have not gained Hospitality in the Domain. Status removed in this fashion may be returned by the Prince should there not be enough evidence to back the Scourge's decision, or if the Prince can be convinced otherwise.
  - Lesser Position: A Hound may remove Personal Status only in the absence of the Scourge.
- Consul (PC, Coordinator NPC, or Chronicle NPC) - The Consul is a recently created position within the Camarilla, coming from the recognized need for an occasional conversation with other Sects in an official capacity. The position of Consul is recognized as one authorized by their Prince to speak with those of other Sects of Kindred. This is not open-license for Camarilla Consuls to freely roam Sabbat Esbats or vice versa. Consuls are often closely watched by their superiors to ensure that they are only fulfilling the needs of their role. Just as a Domain recognizes only one Sheriff or Keeper, so too will they only recognize one Consul.
  - Positional Status Gained: Diplomatic (1)
  - Note: How a non-Camarilla Consul is treated within a Camarilla Domain remains up to the Prince's discretion. Until a Prince recognizes a non-Acknowledged visiting Consul (such as one from the Sabbat), they should be treated like any other member of their Sect. This includes those that may have been recognized as Consuls by other Princes. If a Prince does chose to welcome such a Consul into their Domain and recognizes them accordingly, it is expected that Camarilla citizens will respect the visitor's Diplomatic name.

Other Positions: Princes or Justicars may choose to create titled positions, such as Dux Bellorum or Lord Arcanum, but these positions do not carry official Positional Status like those listed above. While they may be given a Status for those assigned duties, invented positions may not take a character over the OWBN Status maximum, and whatever powers they have are part of the Tradition of the Domain and do not necessarily carry any social weight, respect, or benefits outside of it. If the Prince or Justicar wishes the position to raise a character in esteem, he or she may loan Status to the individual, using the proper rules.

Clanmates: Characters may remove a Personal Status from a member of their Clan by collectively expending permanent Personal Status equal to the member's total Status. This may require one or more clanmate to spend more than one Personal Status. This only applies to clanmates that resides in the same Domain. A Clan stripping standing from one of their own should be a vocal statement and not one taken lightly.

Regarding Followers of Set: As per the Columbus Conclave of 2011, those that ascribe to the Faith of the Followers of Set (be they of the Setite Clan or an Apostate) may not hold any Camarilla position. Should a Setite choose to renounce his faith, they are permitted to serve as Archons, Sheriffs, and Scourges.

TITLES IN THE CAMARILLA

The following titles are ones that are granted under specific conditions. Each is a merit that may be purchased when the character meets certain prerequisites, and comes with additional standing. Honorary Status stacks with Personal and Positional Status, and if you receive multiple forms of Honorary Status, they stack with one another as well. Honorary Status may never be loaned to anyone else, nor does it count for your total when figuring how much Status you can have loaned to you.

MERIT-BASED TITLES

- Sovereign Prince - You are considered to be a paragon among Princes, representing stability and setting examples for others to follow. As such, you gain the Status of Venerable as long as you remain a Prince.
  - Requirements: In order to qualify for this Title, you must have held the position for at least 3 years (OoC requirement that should not be taken IC), and you may not carry any Negative Status or Notoriety. Should you gain Notoriety or be granted Negative Status by a Justicar or the Harridan after having received the title of Sovereign, the title and Status will be removed and will need to re-granted at a later date should your name be cleared. There can be no good example set by being Notorious, or by having broken the laws of the Camarilla on an international level.
  - Associated Merit: Sovereign Prince (see Merits & Flaws)
  - Honorary Status Gained: Venerable. Additionally, this Honorary Status does not count towards the character's maximum allotted. Therefore, a Sovereign Prince may have three Honorary Status in addition to their Venerable name.

- Dignitary - You have been around long enough that people look up to you as someone of higher prestige.
  - Requirements: In order to qualify for this merit, the character must have been consistently and consecutively played as a member of the Camarilla for at least 5 years (if the character ever had the flaw Probationary Sect Membership, this 5 years begins after it's removal). However, should you have Notoriety or the Negative Status of Guilty, Shameful, Malcontent, Despoiler, or Pariah, you cannot claim this bonus Status. Age alone is not worthy of value if not associated with a good reputation.
  - Associated Merit: Dignitary of the Camarilla (see Merits & Flaws)
  - Honorary Status Gained: Dignified
  - Awarding Status: May give Personal Status to a Camarilla member of their Clan as long as their Total Status is more than double the Personal Status of the individual receiving the award at the cost of one Temporary Status for each award. It is not required for the awardee to be present in the same Domain as the Dignitary, though it is advisable to tread carefully in this case, since some Princes might consider this a breach of their Domain.

- Luminary - You have been around long enough that people look up to you as a Kindred of great prestige, and see you as setting an example to be followed.
  - Requirements: In order to qualify for this merit, the character must have been consistently and consecutively played as a member of the Camarilla for at least 10 years (if the character ever had the flaw Probationary Sect Membership, this 10 years begins after it's removal). This merit stacks with Dignitary. However, should you have Notoriety or the Negative Status of Guilty, Shameful, Malcontent, or Pariah, you cannot claim this Title or bonus Status.
  - Associated Merit: Luminary of the Camarilla (see Merits & Flaws)
  - Honorary Status Gained: August
  - Awarding Status: As per Dignitary.

- Elder - The character has been around for several centuries and has been of great service to the Camarilla. Such individuals are held in high regard.
  - Requirements: May only be given to NPC's. Cannot be stacked with Luminary or Dignitary.
  - Associated Merit: N/A
  - Honorary Status Gained: Wise and Respected.
  - Note: Not all NPC's deserve this title. Consider carefully when deciding if your NPC's are deserving of the title.
- Scion - Your reputation or the prestige of your blood allows you to carry more social weight than that of others. While coming from good breeding should give you a head start in the social arena of the Camarilla, upon gaining enough Reputation of your own, you are known by your own merits rather than those of your sire or lineage.
  - Requirements: This Title is simply granted upon acquisition of one of the listed Merits,. However, should you be from prestigious breeding and fall into Notoriety, you suffer the penalty of that Flaw and your childer do not inherit the advantages of the prestigious lineage, since you now became a black sheep.
  - Associated Merit: Reputation or Prestigious Sire/Line (see Merits & Flaws). While multiple merits grant this Status, these merits do not stack and a character may only gain this particular title once.
  - Honorary Status Gained: Respected. While there are multiple Merits that grant the Title of Scion, a character may only receive the benefit from one.

ORGANIZATIONAL TITLES

- Legionnaire
  - Associated Faction: The Ivory Legion
  - Honorary Status Gained: Valorous
- Agent
  - Associated Faction: E Division
  - Honorary Status Gained: Insightful
- Solicitor/Magistrate/Arbiter - A member of the Josians uses the title reflective of their rank with the Organization.
  - Associated Faction: Josians
  - Honorary Status Gained: Feared
- Specialist
  - Associated Faction: Masquerade Unit Technology Enforcement (M.U.T.E.)
  - Honorary Status Gained: Dedicated
- The Right Honorable
  - Associated Faction: The Hague
  - Honorary Status Gained: Esteemed

POLITICS ABILITY

As Status is the backbone of the Camarilla's social structure, it is public information. The usage of the Politics ability represents what you have heard from Harpies or other sources throughout your life as Kindred. If someone spends Politics to learn your character's Status, you must answer the request as honestly and completely as possible, since it is an OOC mechanic.

In order to use the Politics ability, you must know the Kindred's name. The Politics ability gives the following information:

- Total Status (both the number and the named traits)
- Any Status impacting Merits or Flaws
- Who granted the Status
- The approximate time the Status was granted
- A brief summary of the public reason stated for granting the Status

- Who granted Negative Status and when (note that knowledge of the Negative Status itself does not require spending the Politics ability)

It is often best to consult both the character's player and their Storyteller if you have questions, because sometimes the information one side has may be incomplete. Please note that knowing Negative Status does not require the expenditure of Politics, but it should always be included when a player uses the Politics ability.

Also remember that the Politics ability has a limited scope; you are able to discern information about a person from simply knowing their name, but you are not able to learn who all the officers in a Domain are or who is the Chief Archon to a Justicar. This information is more in the realm of Camarilla Lore, however the final determination is up to the Storytellers and Coordinators. If you wish to find out this type of information, reach out to the appropriate staff and see what information your Lores can reveal.

LOANING STATUS

A Kindred may loan a single Trait of her Personal Status to another to show favor or to empower her for a period of time (not to exceed 3 months) or for a specific task, which must be clearly defined upon loaning. It returns immediately to its owner upon demand, even if its purpose has not been completed. A Loaned Status may be invoked only once, after which it returns to its owner (if there is no scandal associated with it) and is once more available to be Loaned or otherwise used.

Any Camarilla citizen with the legal ability to strip a Kindred within their territory of Status also has jurisdiction over any Loaned Status that Kindred carries. For example, if the Kindred carrying Loaned Status commits scandalous actions while visiting a Domain, the Harpy may permanently strip Kindred of the Status they loaned to the guilty party just as if all those Kindred were physically present within the Harpy's Domain.

Status cannot be loaned to those that are Notorious or carry certain Negative Status Traits. Accepting loans from such sources brings a stigma of its own.

While you may be supported by many, you may only call a limited number of Loaned Status in a challenge:

- Pillar Clans may call upon double their Personal and Positional Status (e.g., Valerie Ventrue has 6+3. She can use up to 18 Loaned Status besides her own for a total of 27).
- Subjacent Clans and Clanless may call their Personal and Positional Status alone (e.g., Roger Ravnos has 5+1. He can use up to 6 Loaned Status besides his own in a challenge for a total of 12). Be aware that loaning Status to Clanless could itself be seen as scandalous, and will be scrutinized much more heavily. It is, therefore, a much more risky proposition.

NEGATIVE STATUS

Removing standing does not always address the severity of a given situation. Negative Status marks those that carry it with stain of their misdeeds. After all, simply losing a measure of standing is far different from carrying the social equivalent of a scarlet letter, advertising the crime or scandal you committed.

Negative Status must be declared out of character in all correspondence and interaction, and knowledge of Negative Status does not require a Politics expenditure for Camarilla members. Kindred are far more prone to freely spread rumors and tell cautionary tales of poor behavior than they are to share the good deeds of Camarilla citizens. However, the knowledge of who gave the Negative Status and when requires the same expenditure of the ability. If you have Negative Status, it must be announced in the same manner as Positive Status when someone uses Politics on you. Out of character, we encourage you to wear a nametag to announce your Negative Status.

While Negative Status does not impact your Status Limit, it subtracts from the number of Status you can claim, which directly affects other number-based definitions, such as how many Loaned traits you can claim, or how many Status you can utilize in challenges. There is no general expiration date for a Negative Status trait. Conditions for removal and expiration are listed along with each Negative Status Trait.

Branding someone with Negative Status, especially those that carry graver consequences, should not be the first punishment. Removing Personal Status, using Prestation, or otherwise negotiating should be the methods of first resort.

Appropriate officers may choose to grant a Negative Status to a character when warranted. To remove negative Status, a character must either complete the listed Duration, complete the task listed to remove it, have it removed by the officer that bestowed it initially, or petition the Harridan to remove it. For instance, if a Harpy bestowed Negative Status, only that character while retaining the job of Harpy may remove the Negative Status without the Harridan's assistance..

Lastly, Negative Status may be applied to non-Camarilla Kindred. Since they are not part of Camarilla society and therefore do not follow its rules, they likely will not respect the limitations imposed by the Negative Status. However, a Kindred thus branded might find it harder to interact with Camarilla Kindred, since it will affect their reputation in deals and socializing.

- Despoiler - You have grievously or regularly broke Elysium and are known to be prone to commit violence upon sacred ground. A simple loss of temper with a sole outburst is not appropriate of receiving this Negative Status but repetitive breaches or particularly horrific ones, such as killing another, are valid reasons. This cannot be given to a Sheriff if the breach occurred while performing their duties.
  - Given by: Justicar, Prince, Harridan, Fury, Harpy, or Keeper of Elysium.
  - Duration: Determined by the one giving the Status, or a year and a day, whichever is shorter. Alternatively, until such time as you make proper restitution for the crime you committed, as determined by the Kindred applying the Negative Status.
  - Consequence: As long as you carry this trait you cannot claim any Personal or Positional Status save that of Acknowledged, cannot be loaned Status, and cannot loan Status to anyone.

- Guilty - You were found guilty of breaking one of the Camarilla Traditions. The tarnish of breaking the law follows you wherever you go.
  - Given by: Justicar, Archons, Prince, Harridan, Fury, Harpy, or Sheriff.
  - Duration: Determined by the one giving the Status or a year and a day, whichever is shorter or until such time as you make proper restitution for the crime you committed, as determined by the Kindred applying the Negative Status.
  - Consequence: You may not carry loaned Status and your Total Status outside of your Acknowledgement may be ignored by any Kindred once per evening.

- Incompetent - Either you repeatedly showed inability to conduct the business of different positions or you failed quite spectacularly in one particular position.,
  - Given by: Justicar, Harridan, Fury, Prince, or Harpy. If a Primogen Council finds their Harpy particularly bad, they may band together and unanimously grant this Negative Status to their former Harpy.
  - Duration: Determined by the one giving the Status with a maximum of 2 years, or until such time as you make proper restitution for the crime you committed, as determined by the Position (if the Harpy of Berlin granted this, then only the Harpy of Berlin can remove it, even if the one in that role has changed) applying the Negative Status.
  - Consequence: You may no longer occupy any Camarilla position, except that of Prince and Justicar, for as long as you carry this Negative Trait.

- Malcontent - Malcontents are members of the Camarilla who have demonstrated in word or deed a loyalty to the Anarch Movement that supersedes their submission to the Laws and Hierarchy of the Camarilla.
  - Given by: Justicar, Prince, Harridan, Fury, or Harpy.
  - Duration: This Status remains until a Prince or Justicar delivers an Ordeal to the bearer. The Ordeal should, in some way, prove to show the bearer's loyalty to the Camarilla over the Anarchs. Once the Ordeal is completed, the negative Status is removed.
  - Consequence: While an individual possesses this negative status, they may hold only one other standing beyond Acknowledged and they may not be lent standing nor are they allowed to hold any position within the Camarilla other than Prince. In addition, members of the Camarilla with 4 or more Status is considered 2 traits up on any Social challenge against a Malcontent.

- Oathbreaker - You backed out of a Boon or did not keep a promise that was registered with the proper authorities. Your word is now meaningless.
  - Given by: Harridan, Fury, or Harpy.
  - Duration: Until you have paid the Boons you reneged on and made sufficient amends to the offended parties as judged by the one giving the Negative Status. Unlike other Negative Status, there is no expiration date.
  - Consequence: Those that owe you are not required to pay their dues and will not face scandal for it. It does not mean you lose Boons owed to you, just that you cannot claim them while carrying the Oathbreaker Negative Status.

- Overambitious - You hold the same Camarilla position in multiple Domains and it is not accepted well. While there may be times when serving multiple Domains is beneficial, these situations are not the standard and Princes do not wish to share those that serve them with others.
  - Given by: Harridan, Fury, Prince, or Harpy.
  - Duration: Determined by the one giving the Status or a year and a day, whichever is shorter or until such time as you make proper restitution for the crime you committed, as determined by the Kindred applying the Negative Status.
  - Consequence: While bearing this Negative Status, the character does not gain any benefit from Positional Standing.

- Pariah - Your repeated offenses multiple times and failed to understand the lesson; your character has accumulated several Negative Status traits.
  - Given by: Justicar or Harridan.
  - Duration: Determined by the one giving the Status or a year and a day, whichever is shorter or until such time as you make proper restitution for the crime you committed, as determined by the Kindred applying the Negative Status.
  - Consequence: You lose all your Personal Status save Acknowledgement, cannot earn Status while carrying this Negative Status, cannot claim any Boons you are owed to, cannot be loaned Status or loan Status to anyone, cannot talk to any officer unless spoken to first or with their express permission nor contradict any officer or Kindred of higher standing.

- Profane - This Negative Status can only be given by the Josians declaring a Domain to carry the Negative Stature of Profane (see "Domain Wide Negative Stature" section).
  - Given by: The Josian Council of Invisibles and a Justicar. However, it can only be given by levying the Negative Domain Stature of Profane.
  - Duration: Indefinitely. The only way for a member bearing this status to see it removed is to present themselves to a Justicar for judgement but doing so is risky as the Justicar may simply chose to destroy the Profane individual.
  - Consequence: Those carrying such a black mark may hold no status save Acknowledgement and no position. All boons owed to them are stripped and they are no longer protected under the Sixth Tradition; they may be freely destroyed. For more information, see Rites of Blood

- Scandalous - In the past, you've been punished with loss of status, the gaining of Negative Status, or both, and you have demonstrated that you have not learned your lesson.
  - Given by: Justicar, Harridan, Fury, Prince, or Harpy.
  - Duration: Determined by the one giving the Status with a maximum of 1 year.
  - Consequence: You may no longer speak with an officer of the Camarilla unless spoken to first and may claim no Honorary Status traits, save for Sovereign.
- Shameful - You served as an Archon, Fury, or a Prince but you lost the position under dishonorable or shameful conditions. . As a Prince, you lost your claim of Praxis in a way that either endangered the Domain or was considered highly scandalous (such as a "five minute Praxis"). As an Archon or Fury, you disappointed your former master who has removed you from the position.. Note that this is not automatic for every former Prince, or Archon, or Fury, but rather only those who were a shame to the title and left their position on poor terms
  - Given by: Justicar for failed Archons. Harridan for either a failed Prince or Fury.
  - Duration: Determined by the one giving the Status or a year and a day, whichever is shorter. In the case of a failed Prince, the duration can be as long as three years. Alternatively may be removed by the same office that placed it at any point.
  - Consequence: For failure in either position, you are seen to carry one less Status than you do.
- Warned - Your scandalous behavior has invoked the attention of officers in a negative way. Your every move is now under scrutiny, and this scandal follows you.
  - Given by: Justicar, Prince, Harridan, Fury, Seneschal, Harpy, Sheriff, Keeper of Elysium, or Primogen. Additionally a Centurion of the Ivory Legion may bestow this status upon one of their subordinates.
  - Duration: Determined by the one giving the Negative Status or three months, whichever is shorter.
  - Consequence: You cannot speak to any Officer unless spoken to first, or with their express permission.

BLOOD HUNTS

A Blood Hunt authorizes all Kindred within a Domain to destroy the target and forbids them to aid the criminal in any manner. The caller of a Blood Hunt may order all citizens to actively participate in the Hunt. Often Princes will offer various rewards to those that complete a Blood Hunt - e.g. Boons, feeding territory, Rite of Progeny, and possibly even Amaranth over the Hunted (though, this is not assumed and needs to be distinctly granted). A Blood hunt is serious and should not be called without a good reason, as several Justicars have stated throughout the history of Camarilla. For more information on the gravity and significance of a Blood Hunt, please refer to Laws of the Night: Camarilla Guide, pages 106-111.

In order to enact a Blood Hunt, a Prince must expend three temporary Status and the Blood Hunt must be made public. Other Princes can extend the Blood Hunt to their Domains, but doing so will also cost those Princes the same temporary expenditure. A Blood Hunt may also be called by a Conclave composed by three Justicars that agree on the necessity of this Hunt. Should this happen, it is considered to be a Global Blood Hunt and enforceable in any Camarilla held Domain.

Blood Hunts may not be called during disputes of Praxis.

The following methods may be used to overturn a Blood Hunt:

- The Prince that called a Blood Hunt may overturn it. Doing so is considered to be scandalous and thus costs the Prince two permanent Personal Status. A Prince may not revoke any Blood Hunt called by his predecessors, only those he himself called. Killing the Prince that called the Blood Hunt does not invalidate the Hunt; it only removes the possibility of the Prince removing the Hunt afterwards.

- The Primogen Council may overturn any Blood Hunt called by their Prince within 3 months of the Blood Hunt being called. To do so, they must collectively expend Permanent Personal Status equal to that of the Prince's Total Status. This may require one or more Primogen to spend more than one Personal Status. Who expends which Trait(s) should, of course, be decided through role playing. This action is considered scandalous upon the Prince that called the Hunt and will cost him two of his Personal Status. Should the Prince that called the Blood Hunt be killed, or removed, within the time frame, the Primogen Council can still remove a Blood Hunt in this way as long as the Primogen Council remains the same.
- A Justicar may overturn any Blood Hunt called by a Prince at his or her discretion. If the Blood Hunt was called by a Conclave, only another Conclave may overturn it. The Justicars may also punish a Domain that does not try to fulfill a Blood Hunt because of their apathy towards the Prince who called it.

DOMAIN WIDE NEGATIVE STATURE

A Justicar or Harridan may apply a Negative Stature to a Domain that has earned such a stigma. This may be a Domain that is repeatedly plagued by scandal, or one that has seen breaches of Camarilla laws of the again and again without any action by their citizens to fix the situation. How and why a Domain comes to the attention of the Justicariate should be roleplayed. It can be simple as a resident providing information to the right people, or an internationally-known problem.

- Under Observation - The target Domain is involved in scandal or criminal activity that supersedes a single individual. The Justicars of the Camarilla are ever watchful, and condemn this state of affairs and the lack of local initiative to fix the issues within. Every member of the Camarilla that claims residency in a Domain Under Observation is considered to have one less Status.
- Tarnished - After a Domain has been Under Observation for 6 months, the Justicars will reconvene and evaluate whether the Domain has mended its ways or is still exhibiting poor behavior. Should the first occur, the Negative Stature will be removed. Should the latter take place, the Negative Stature will be changed to Tarnished. This evaluation can occur sooner than 6 months if new crimes or abuses arise. Every member of the Camarilla that claims residency in a Tarnished Domain is considered to carry the Negative Status Trait Guilty.
- Under Ordeal - After a year and a day of a Domain being considered Tarnished without sufficient change, the Justicars may place the Domain Under Ordeal (if the Storyteller and Coordinator Staff agree) by giving the Domain a challenge which must be completed within a specified time. During the period of the Ordeal, all Kindred claiming residency or allegiance with the Domain Under Ordeal is considered to have the Negative Status Trait of Shameful outside of the Domain. This Negative Stature may only be given by the Justicariate.
- Forsaken - Should a Domain fail its Ordeal, it will no longer be considered part of the Camarilla. As such, it cannot claim any position or help from those outside the Domain. Those that claim residency in this Domain will be treated as un-Acknowledged Kindred, and visiting a Forsaken Domain might carry a consequence of its own. This Negative Stature may only be given by the Justicariate.
- Profane - This Negative Status is an exceptionally dire invocation and one of last resort. It may only be called down upon by the highest authority within the Josian ranks with the support of a Justicar. Should a Domain find itself so detrimental to the Camarilla to be named Profane, all resident members of said Domain immediately gain the negative status of Profane (see Negative Status section).

- For more information, see Rites of Blood, pg. 126
- Any and all use of the Domain Wide Negative Status requires strict Camarilla Coordinator Approval due to the harsh drawbacks of the negative status. Similarly, the Camarilla Coordinator cannot impose this punishment on a Domain without the clear approval of that Domain's controlling party (be it a Chronicle or a Coordinator).

BOONS

Boons can be offered as payment for services rendered, appeasement for offenses committed, or compensation for favors already done without previous agreement, should the parties involved feel that payment is required.

Harpies are involved with adjudicating the worthiness of Boons, advising the involved parties regarding Prestation, and maintaining records of the Boons circulating in their Domain. While it is not mandatory to register a Boon with a Harpy, it is the only way of ensuring it is official and enforceable. Once a Boon is logged in a Harpy's record, there is no way to get out of paying the Boon without significant damage to one's reputation and the risk of unfortunate social consequences. Should an unregistered Boon end up in contention before the Harpy there is no guarantee they will choose to enforce those consequences or even choose to punish both involved parties for it. There is no need to register the reason for the Boon being traded, although a Harpy may ask. The value of a Boon should always take into account the parties involved, regardless of the service rendered. What might constitute a "major" task for a neonate could be seen as a "trivial" affair for an elder.

Once registered, Boons may be traded between Kindred at the will of the one who holds the Boon. These transfers must be properly registered with a Harpy to be acknowledged, though just as with the original Boon, the reasons for the transfer need not be registered. The value of the Boon being transferred does not change, however additional Boons may be offered to buy or sell a third-party Boon.

The value of a Boon is established at the time the debt is agreed to and registered with the Harpies. It is possible for a Boon to be divided into lesser-valued Boons or several smaller Boons to be added to a major one, however this may only occur with the express consent of the debtor, and is subject to in-character negotiation.

Defaulting on a Boon has serious consequences based on the value of the Boon and the Status of the involved parties. Prestation and Status are not always governed by hard and fast rules, and the Harpy is the final arbiter of scandal. Consequences for defaulting on a Boon may range from a temporary removal of Status to the loss of several Personal Status or the application of Negative Status, depending upon the temper of the Harpy involved.

Within the Camarilla, the value of a Boon owed can fluctuate greatly depending on the relative Status of the two individuals involved, as well as their opinions of one another. If Joe the Brujah has 1 Status and is trying to purchase instruction in Fortitude from Jane the Ventruue, he is likely to pay through the nose for it. A Major Boon would be a good starting place, but he might find himself owing a Major and two Minors just to learn the first level. Whereas if Mark the Malkavian has six personal Status and is trying to learn Forgetful Mind from Tommy the Tremere who has 2 personal Status, and is a friend of Mark, he may only charge a Minor Boon to learn all three levels of Dominate. In general, the more powerful and respected a person is, the less they pay for a given service.

Boons can also be negotiated with non-Camarilla citizens. However dealing with those outside normal society carry risk, since there is no practical way to ensure that they will repay the Boon they owe. Harpies can mark them as risky traders and associate their names with Boon defaulting -- but there are no concrete consequences outside of vocally sullyng their reputation. In short, Camarilla Kindred deal in Boons with non-Camarilla Kindred at their own risk.

- Trivial Boon - Lesser tasks including, but not limited to: one-time small favors, unsolicited information, watching over someone for an evening as long as there is no risk involved, aiding (not teaching) someone with a common Discipline, supporting a minor political move, helping design a plan and other such trivial tasks.
- Minor Boon - Small tasks that can last for more than one evening and might require a minor inconvenience including, but not limited to: providing needed information of some value, instruction in an unusual Ability, usage of Influences or Resources to aid another, some type of political support, acting as a bodyguard for multiple nights, facilitating passage through a hostile territory, disposing of a minor threat, helping carry out a plan, important advice and other such minor tasks.
- Major Boon - Tasks that require great expenditure of time or resources including, but not limited to: instruction in a common Discipline, purchasing a location to serve as someone's Haven, exchange of controversial or very valuable information, major political maneuvering, helping someone to get out of trouble with the Prince and other such major tasks.
- Blood Boon - Tasks that may required the debtor to shed blood to complete. For example: saving the life of a Kindred's immediate kin, sharing dangerous or secret information that could cause blood to be spilled, instruction in a clan-specific or rare discipline and other such dangerous tasks.
- Life Boon - Tasks that involves saving another's life at the risk of one's own.
- Extremis Boon - An Extremis Boon can never be offered, agreed to, or otherwise created by a Player Character in OWBN. No Player Character has the Status to support an Extremis Boon, as it supersedes numerical value. It can and should only be offered by extremely powerful members of a Clan. When such an Elder offers the Boon, it is important to note that whatever faction is covered by the debt is considered to be bound by the terms of the Boon whether they personally agreed to it or not. Extremis Boons are big and thus are overseen by the Harridan's Office directly.

DEATH AND BOONS

Murder should not at all be a common occurrence in the Camarilla, especially not as a way to evade Boons. Should one Camarilla Kindred destroy another, the killer will inherit all the debt of the victim and the Harpies of the Camarilla will register the new debtor in their ledgers (though, not the debts that were owed to the victim - only the ones that he owed to others). In this way, a Kindred is forced to consider all alternatives to destruction before following through. This applies even if the Kindred is granted Right of Destruction by the appropriate authority or the Prince demands the victim be destroyed for crimes committed against the Camarilla. Killing so can quickly become a costly business, even without considering the consequences an unsanctioned murder should bring.

The only times this debt is not incurred is if the victim is Blood Hunted (someone who has become the target of such may not hide behind his Boon debt), if the victim is directly slain by the Prince, Scourge, or Sheriff (the latter two on the direct orders of the Prince for their crimes, or if the person is being destroyed by an Archon with direct and specific orders to do so by their Justicar. Blanket statements by a Justicar or a Prince such as "you may destroy whomever" will not absolve the Archon or Sheriff of incurring this debt.

MERITS & FLAWS

- Additional Personal Status (OWbN Specific) - Opt. Merit: This merit raises your Status Limit by one Personal Status. Once that Limit is increased, even being stripped of Status does not lower the character's maximum Status potential.

- Majority Council Vote Required. The vote should include a list of the character's deeds, their current standing, a reason why they'll be receiving this honor, and a statement as to who will be awarding the standing.
- Sovereign Prince (formerly Long-Term Prince, OWbN Specific) - 1pt. Merit: This merit grants you the Camarilla Title of Sovereign (see the Titles Section for more information). If the character no longer meets the requirements of the Title, the Merit is lost.
  - Camarilla Coordinator Approval Required
- Dignitary of the Camarilla (OWbN Specific) - 1pt. Merit: This merit grants you the Camarilla Title of Dignitary (see the Titles Section for more information). If the character no longer meets the requirements of the Title, the Merit is lost.
  - Camarilla Coordinator Approval Required
- Luminary of the Camarilla (OWbN Specific) - 1pt. Merit: This merit grants you the Camarilla Title of Luminary (see the Titles Section for more information). If the character no longer meets the requirements of the Title, the Merit is lost.
  - Camarilla Coordinator Approval Required
- Prestigious Sire (a.k.a. Prestigious Lineage. Laws of the Night, Revised, pg. 118) - 1 pt. Merit: This merit grants you the Camarilla Title of Scion (see the Titles Section for more information). If the character no longer meets the requirements of the Title, the Merit is lost.
  - Camarilla Coordinator Approval Required
  - You cannot possess this Merit if you also have the Infamous Sire/Lineage Flaw
- Reputation (Laws of the Night [Grey Book], pg. 57) - 1 pt. Merit: This merit grants you the Camarilla Title of Scion (see the Titles Section for more information). If the character no longer meets the requirements of the Title, the Merit is lost. NOTE: In Laws of the Night, this Merit is listed as 2 pts., but to bring it in line with the Prestigious Sire, the cost was lowered to 1 pt.
  - Camarilla Coordinator Approval Required
  - You cannot possess this Merit if you also have the Notoriety Flaw
- Infamous Sire a.k.a. Infamous Lineage (Laws of the Night, Revised, pg. 119) - 1 pt. Flaw: This flaw grants you the Camarilla Limit of Infamous (see the Status Limit Section for more information).
  - You cannot possess this Flaw if you also have the Prestigious Sire/Lineage Merit
- Notoriety (Laws of the Night [Grey Book], pg. 58) - 3 pt. Flaw: This flaw grants you the Camarilla Limit of Notorious (see the Status Limit Section for more information). Any character that leaves the Camarilla and then later rejoins gains this Flaw automatically.
  - You cannot possess this Flaw if you also have the Reputation Merit

CAMARILLA LORE GUIDE

Below is a listing of each level of Camarilla Lore and what knowledge you gain with each level

Level 1

- You know all 6 of the Camarilla's core Traditions.
- You know that the main Clans are the Brujah, Ventrue, Malkavian, Nosferatu, Tremere, Toreador, and Gangrel. These are the Clans that are often referred to as the Founding Clans of the Camarilla
- You know that the Camarilla refers to the territory it holds as a "Domain"
- You know that each Domain is ruled by a person titled "Prince" and that her word is law. Also, you know the term "Prince" is not gender specific.
- You know the common Camarilla positions within a Domain and what their function is (Prince, Seneschal, Harpy, Sheriff, Keeper of Elysium, Scourge, Primogen, and Consul)
- You know that there is a Council of Primogen in each Domain and that they serve as advisors to the Prince.
- You know of the institution of Elysium, a place that is considered to be neutral ground for all Kindred where violence may not occur.
- You have heard of a Conclave, a gathering of Kindred to decide important topics.
- You understand the basics of the Prestation system and what Boons are.
- You know that the Camarilla is run by a representative of each Clan, called a Justicar.
- You have heard of the Harridan, a recent role, who functionally serves a similar role to the Harpy but on much more grand scale.

Level 2

- You know that the Camarilla was created to protect Kindred from mankind through the Masquerade.
- You are aware that the Gangrel left the Camarilla but then later returned.
- You know that the Children of Haqim and the Lasombra Antitribu are counted among the more respected members of the Camarilla that are not one of the Founding Clans. The term Pillar Clan is used to encompass both these two Clans as well as the Founding Clans.
- You know what the Blood Hunt is.
- You know that only a Justicar can call a Conclave.
- You know that most of the Traditions pre-date the Camarilla and are Laws carried over from an older time.
- You know of the Archons, field agents of the Justicars.
- You know of the Furies, field agents of the Harridan.
- You are experienced with the nuances of the Prestation system and often know what level of boons are appropriate for payment.
- You know that the Scourge is a fairly recent title, only becoming popular in the this century. The scourge's primary job is to hunt down unacknowledged Kindred.
- You know that the Consul is an even more recent title, one that has become popular only very recently. The Consul serves as a diplomat and ambassador to other groups. You also know that there is much skepticism around the position still.
- You know that Diablerie is forbidden within the Camarilla, often punishable by death.
- You know of Whips, Hounds, Deputies, Stewards, and Lesser Harpies.
- You have heard that the Camarilla has a "Most Wanted" list, often referred to as the Red List. Members of the Red List are referred to as Anathema.
- You have heard of some of the most legendary and dignified elders of the Camarilla such as Hardestadt and Rafael de Corazon, though you are unfamiliar with a lot of the specifics of why they are famous.
- You have heard of organizations within the Camarilla such as the Josians, the Ivory Legion, M.U.T.E., and E Division.

- You know they have recently expanded their ranks to include non-Archons and have become more public.

Level 3

- You are aware of the First Anarch Revolt, that it was an uprising of childer against sire and that it led to the formation of the Anarch Movement and the Sabbat Rebellion.
- You can name all of the current Justicars and the Harridan.
- As they are direct agents of the Justicars, you know that Archons are heavily restricted in what politics they can involve themselves in.
- You know that how Primogen are chosen varies from one Domain to the next. In some, they are a collection of the most respected Kindred in the Domain. In others, they are the eldest members of their Clan.
- You are aware that most of the Traditions, save Masquerade, may vary in their exact interpretation from one Domain to the next.
- The term Prince originates before the Camarilla. It previously referred to the Eldest Kindred in a city who was therefore considered to be its leader. It was later ratified officially into the Camarilla as the title of the ruler of a Domain.
- You are aware that, just after the turn of the century, there was a mass exodus of Gangrel from the Camarilla. Prior to their departure, the vast majority of the Clan was part of the Camarilla. Now, a large population of the Clan is independent.
- You know the Assamites came to join the Camarilla just after the turn of the century and that they've been begrudgingly accepted. Many within the Camarilla prefer the name "Children of Haqim" for the Clan.
- You are familiar with the details of the Convention of Thorns, the Treaty of Tyre, and the Giovanni Promise.
- You know the names of some of the more prominent Camarilla dignitaries, such as Queen Anne, Jan Pieterzoon, Karsh, and Tegyrus.
- You are aware that the Camarilla has a special group specifically tasked with hunting down the Anathema. This group is referred to as the Alastors.
- You know that there are different types of Conclaves. Some to pass new Camarilla policy, others to pass judgement against a Domain or an individual.
- You are familiar with the position of a Servire, an Archon's personal assistant. You know that many Archons start out their career as Servires.
- You know the types of tasks commonly given to the E Division, the Ivory Legion, M.U.T.E., and Josians.
- You have also heard rumors of other organizations that are not as public or open in the Camarilla.
- You know the types of tasks commonly given to the E Division, the Ivory Legion, M.U.T.E., and Josians (Each of the societies have "Role Within the Camarilla". That should be this information, pasted below for ease of access). From this, you also know that the former group known as Dogcatchers were included among the Ivory Legion.
- Josians: An organization that hunts down and destroys Gehenna Cults, Infernalists, Noddists, and those that walk some of the most vile Paths of Enlightenment (such as, but not limited to, Path of Night, Lilith, Caine, and Evil Revelations).
- E-Division: To provide knowledge and expertise on that which goes bump in the night other than the Kindred threats
- MUTE: To protect the Masquerade from digital threats such as leaked videos or hacking attempts
- The Ivory Legion: They are an intelligence service, a military force, and the last line of defense for the Camarilla. When the Camarilla must take up arms, the Legion is often consulted if not tasked with the mission directly.

Level 4

- You are aware of the formation of the Camarilla, in a town called Thorns. Where those of the Anarch Revolt met with their Elders and laid down arms. The Camarilla was formed both shield Kindred from mankind and

- You have heard of the Extremis Boon, a boon which takes the most monumental of efforts to repay and is only offered in the most dire of circumstances.
- You know that the Children of Haqim received an Extremis Boon over the Toreador. They used it to garner their support in their bid to receive a Justicar (which ultimately failed).
- You are aware that when the Camarilla was formed, an invitation was extended to the Setites, but they declined.
- You know that some Primogen Councils have members of non-Camarilla affiliated Clans appointed to them (sometimes even including a Caitiff to speak for the non-Pillar Clans) and that in some rare circumstances, a Primogen Council (in this case called a jurta) rules a Domain in the absence of a Prince.
- You know that Justicars serve for a limited term and that they may be reappointed for another term. You are not sure how they are elected.
- You know that all Justicars and the Harridan must submit to an oath of station before appointment.
- You know the Authority within the Camarilla that each group has.
- Josians: By themselves, the Josians have no positional power. They are bound by the Traditions and must operate within them. Should they wish to dispatch a rogue, they must seek out the Prince to grant them Destruction. Should they wish to enter a city for investigation, they must still seek out Hospitality. Though, denying the Josians is often perceived as having something to hide. Should one stand in the way of a Josian's investigation, it is likely that they will return with an Archon or possibly a Justicar's political backing, making the investigation far more difficult to ignore. One of the greatest powers the Josians have as a whole is the ability to levy the Negative Domain Stature of "Profane" against a Domain. However, even this requires the cooperation of a Justicar and the Council of Invisibles.
- E-Division: Much like the Josians, E Division does not have any liberty to operate outside the Traditions or beyond their own authority. However, the E Division tends to be less interested in the affairs of members of the Camarilla; they target external threats
- MUTE: M.U.T.E. serves purely to protect the Masquerade and monitor the internet for potential threats. They should work, at all times, with the Princes and Keepers of the Domains in which they are operating
- The Ivory Legion: The Legion does not involve itself heavily in the politics of a Domain, as their focus is elsewhere. They coordinate their efforts with various different offices within the Camarilla. Working under the auspices of the Emperor, they are granted a degree of respect for their military ways, but they are subject to the will of Princes when acting within Domains. The Ivory Legion may take charge of combat missions in unclaimed territory, but are still subject to the will of Justicars.

Level 5

- You have heard of the Inner Circle, the secret leaders of the Camarilla. Exactly what function they serve or who they are, though, is unknown.
- You know that Inner Circle has some say in how a Justicar is selected.
- You have a general idea of the personality of each Justicar.
- You know the names of each member of the Red List.
- You have heard rumor that there was at one point a Sabbat infiltrator on the Inner Circle, and that this drastically affected Camarilla politics during the 18th century. You hear that this is the cause of at the death of at least one Justicar, although the matter has very much been hushed up.
- You are aware of the how the Alastors function. You know that Alastors report directly to the Inner Circle, and not to the Justicariate.
- You have heard rumors of a secret division of Camarilla agents called "The Eyes" who serve as spies among the highest levels of the Camarilla. They are believed to report on the actions of Justicars and powerful Princes, but you are uncertain exactly who receives those reports.
- You know some of ranks, positions and titles used by the organizations, though not the exact membership and who occupies what rank or their top leadership. You also know that the group formerly known as Doppelgangers was included among the ranks of the Legion.
- Josians: They are divided in ranks: Solicitor, Magistrate and Arbiter. They seem to be lead by a group of kindred called the Council of Invisibles.

- E-Division: They are divided in ranks: Agent, Supervisor and Director. Apparently they have specialists they call Special Agents and they are lead by someone they call Overseer
- MUTE: They are divided in ranks: Newb, Support, Elite. They seem to be lead by someone that calls himself Root
- The Ivory Legion: Based on the old roman legions, their ranks are: Milites, Decanus and Centurion. They have specialists to handle specific threats, among their Immunes. The Legion is lead by the Imperator and his Legatus.

CAMARILLA ORDERS AND SOCIETIES

Among the Camarilla, there are various Orders, Societies, and Cults; some sanctioned by the Justicars and the Inner Circle, others more discreet. Below are some of the more prominent groups that exist.

SANCTIONED ORGANIZATIONS

These Organizations are generally public knowledge (see the Lore Guide for specifics). Membership in any of these Organizations is encouraged by the Camarilla as a whole and carries additional recognition. However, a character may never be part of more than one Sanctioned Organization at a given time.

JOSIANS

Originally, the Josians started out as a quiet order within the ranks of the Archons. A group sanctioned to hunt down and destroy Gehenna Cults and collect their heretical tomes and knowledge. In the years since their formation, their role slowly expanded, finally coming to a head during the Year of Fire. With the sudden resurgence of the Baali and the massive wave of Infernalism, the Josians added destruction of these creatures to their tasks. Under the supervision of the Council of Invisibles at the behest of the Inner Circle, they work to route out Gehenna cults, Infernalists, and Noddists. The Josians collect and catalog all manner of artifacts pertaining to Gehenna, fringe Kindred religions, and Infernalism.

The Josians must walk a political tightrope within the Camarilla. They are the keepers of dangerous knowledge and secret. They must often employ intrigue to ferret out their quarry. At the same time, they have learned that facing such dangerous adversaries exposes them to great risks of corruption. The Josians accept that no one is immune from falling to temptation. They maintain strenuous standards of accountability and internal disclosure of all evidence. For this reason, many Kindred are hesitant to involve a Josian in any personal intrigue. While they are very skilled at keeping secrets, the assumption is that if you tell one Josian, you are telling them all. Should a Josian ever go rogue and begin revealing information about the group to those outside of it, they may quickly find themselves in the cross-hairs of their former colleagues.

Source Material: Archons & Templars, pg. 21, Rites of Blood, pg.127

Symbols and Iconography: Some chose to use the symbols of St. Michael or St. Benedict. Less religious and more historically minded members may use the rooster as a symbol as a reference to the knightly Order of Chanticleer, which had a very similar purpose during the Dark Ages. There is not one standard icon representing the Josians.

Role Within the Camarilla: An organization that hunts down and destroys Gehenna Cults, Infernalists, Noddists, and those that walk some of the most vile Paths of Enlightenment (such as, but not limited to, Path of Night, Lilith, Caine, and Evil Revelations).

Authority within the Camarilla: By themselves, the Josians have no positional power. They are bound by the Traditions and must operate within them. Should they wish to dispatch a rogue, they must seek out the Prince to grant them Destruction. Should they wish to enter a city for investigation, they must still seek out Hospitality. Though, denying the Josians is often perceived as having something to hide. Should one stand in the way of a Josian's investigation, it is likely that they will return with an Archon or possibly a Justicar's political backing, making the investigation far more difficult to ignore.

One of the greatest powers the Josians have as a whole is the ability to levy the Negative Domain Stature of “Profane” against a Domain. However, even this requires the cooperation of a Justicar and the Council of Invisibles.

Ranks Within the Josians:

- Solicitor:
  - Prerequisites to Join:
    - At least two of the following Lores at 2: Noddist, Infernal, Bahari, Baali, Path of Enlightenment (or related Lore).
    - Recruitment from PCs and Camarilla Coordinator Approval

- Advantages of Rank:
  - Access to the Combination Discipline: Quicken Sight, Archons & Templars, pg. 140
  - Due to the service they provide to the Camarilla, a member of the Josians enjoys the respect granted to them by the Camarilla. They may claim the Camarilla Title of their Josian rank. As such, they additionally gain the Honorary Status of Feared.
- Disadvantages of Rank:
  - Must submit to questioning from higher ranking members.
  - Must obtain approval from a higher ranking Josian before undertaking an official investigation.
  - Camarilla members who hold the Malcontent Negative Status may not join this society and if a member find himself thus branded, it is unlikely they will ever advance to the next rank and might even suffer other more dangerous consequences.
- Magistrate:
  - Requirements for Advancement:
    - At least two of the following Lores at 3: Noddist, Infernal, Bahari, Path, Baali. Information leading to the destruction of at least one quarry of the Josians (Infernalist Kindred, Gehenna Cultist, follower of an unacceptable Path, etc.).
    - Promotion by Arbiter.
  - Advantages of Rank:
    - Access to the Combination Discipline: Anticipatory Visage, Archons & Templars, pg. 142
    - Access to the Combination Discipline: Ear for Lies, Road of Kings, pg. 72
    - May call in any lower ranking Josians for questioning.
  - Disadvantages of Rank:
    - Must submit to questioning from higher ranking members whenever requested.
    - One step Blood Bonded to an Arbiter and they will be tested to ensure they are not fully bound to anyone else.
    - While not directly banned, Kindred from non-founding Clans are scrutinized much more closely making it less likely they ever achieve this rank. To date, it is unheard of any Kindred from a non-Founding Clan advancing this high.
- Arbiter:
  - Requirements for Advancement:
    - At least two of the following Lores at 4: Noddist, Infernal, Bahari, Baali, Path of Enlightenment (or related Lore) (NOTE: For PCs based in games that do not allow these lores higher than 3, specializations or other related abilities and lores may be considered).
    - Direct action leading to the destruction of at least three Infernalist, Cultists, or other quarries of the Josians or five indirection actions that lead to the same.
    - Camarilla Coordinator Approval.
  - Advantages of Rank:
    - Access to the Combination Discipline: Anticipatory Locution, Archons & Templars, pg. 142
    - Access to the Combination Discipline: False Death, Rites of Blood, pg. 127 (requires Camarilla Coordinator Approval).
    - May call in any lower ranking Josians for questioning.
  - Disadvantages of Rank:
    - While it is not openly discussed or clearly defined, no Tremere has achieved this rank. Some theorize that this is intentional due to the scandals of the Tremere's House Horned Society and their mishandling of Infernal matters.
    - Josians of this rank are bound by an oath to the Council of Invisibles. The exact nature of this bond is not known to outsiders and may include several different forms of supernatural enforcement. Additionally, if a Josian of this rank ever abandons the Camarilla, they receive the flaws Enemy x5 and Dark Fate, as they will be mercilessly hunted.

- Josians of this Rank are required to sign a Binding Agreement with the Camarilla Coordinator's office.
- The Council of Invisibles (NPC Only):
  - Little is known about the mysterious individuals, presumably Kindred, who make up the Council. There are four in all and they are rarely ever seen, instead preferring to communicate through secure channels. The Council is the highest authority among the Josians. They assign priority operations and review all information provided to them on investigations and local matters of interest. It is also determined by them if a Josian has crossed the line and is in need of punishment.

Media Examples:

- The Last Witchhunter
- The Ninth Gate

E DIVISION

Formed only in recent decades, the need for E Division stems from the idea that there are threats to the Camarilla's way of life outside of the Sabbat (and sometimes Anarchs). Fae creatures, creatures of Smoke and Shadow, ghostly activity, supernatural hunters, and mage attacks are the types of problems that keep E Division's nights busy. They are some of the foremost experts on the supernatural and the paranormal and are some of the Camarilla's best investigators. Even gathering information on Demons is within the scope of E Division, though in such cases, they have been known to work with the Josians to ensure propriety.

E Division's agents are not revered for their combat prowess, while able to throw down as much as anyone, they are more focused on investigation, research, and knowledge. They are the agents that discover a creature's weakness and how to exploit the social structures of external threats.

Source Material: Archons & Templars, pg. 21

Nickname: Enigmas

Role Within the Camarilla: To provide knowledge and expertise on that which goes bump in the night other than the Kindred threats.

Authority within the Camarilla: Much like the Josians, E Division does not have any liberty to operate outside the Traditions or beyond their own authority. However, the E Division tends to be less interested in the affairs of members of the Camarilla; they target external threats.

Ranks Within E Division:

- Agent
  - Prerequisites to Join:
    - Investigation x3, Enigmas x2,
    - Three non-Kindred Lores at x3
    - Recruitment from an existing member.
    - Camarilla Coordinator Notification
  - Advantages of Rank:
    - May requisition E Division for a teacher of up to two non-Kindred Lores up to level x2 (subject to regular Bylaw restrictions and ST approval)
    - Due to the service they provide to the Camarilla, a member of the E Division enjoys the respect granted to them by the Camarilla. They may claim the Camarilla Title of Agent. As such, they additionally gain the Honorary Status of Insightful.

- Disadvantages of Rank:
  - E Division expects full disclosure of Lore possessed by its members. Higher ranking members may require those of lower rank to teach Lore without offering direct compensation. If deals to teach Lore are ever struck with those outside the society, the lowest ranking members are often the ones to provide instruction.
- Special Agent
  - The Special Agent title is not part of the linear ranking scale of E Division. An Agent, Supervisor, or Director can also carry the title of Special Agent. This title is given to a member of E Division who has distinguished themselves as a foremost expert against a given supernatural threat. The title is directly linked to that area of expertise and as such, it is expected that this Special Agent will be called upon to offer aid when that subject matter comes up.
  - Requirements for Recognition:
    - The appropriate Lore for the recognized creature type (i.e. to be a Special Agent of Mages, the character must have Mage Lore x5) and one other lore associated to that creature type at x2
  - Advantages of Rank:
    - The character receives a weapon Warded against the particular creature type (should such a Ward be available). Refer to the Tremere Thaumaturgy packet to see a list of what Wards are available.
  - Disadvantages of Rank:
    - The character will be called upon to offer their expertise should the topic arise. Failure to provide accurate and relevant information could lead to the loss of the Special Agent title.
- Supervisor
  - Requirements for Advancement:
    - Investigation x4, Enigmas x3,
    - At least one non-Kindred Lore at 5 or five separate Lore at 3.
  - Advantages of Rank:
    - Access to the Combination Discipline: Mind's Eye, Archons & Templars, pg. 143
    - May requisition the Division for a teacher of up to three non-Kindred Lores up to level x3 (subject to regular Bylaw restrictions)
  - Disadvantages of Rank:
    - E Division is slightly possessive of the Lore it has acquired. Members of this rank may not teach Lore to outsiders without explicit approval. Requests that only benefit the teacher without adding to E Division's resources will almost certainly be denied.
    - Should Supervisors be found to only be using E Division for their own personal goals, they may lose the advantage to requisition Lores per the Agent advantage.
- Director
  - Requirements for Advancement:
    - Investigation x5, Enigmas x4,
    - 5 non-Kindred Lores at x5 or 9 non-Kindred Lores at x3.
    - Camarilla Coordinator Approval.
  - Advantages of Rank:
    - Access to the Combination Discipline: Random Patterns, Archons & Templars, pg. 143.
NOTE: Requires Malkavian Coordinator Notification for Non-Malkavians
    - May requisition E Division for a teacher for one non-Kindred Lore up to level x5 (subject to regular Bylaw restrictions)
    - A Director may request access to highly guarded knowledge and secrets. The knowledge requested must be tied to a specific investigation and cannot be for their own personal gain. The character may request access to Lore that is regularly heavily guarded and requires Coordinator Approval. The Camarilla

Team will work with the requested Coordinator on the request, but there is no guarantee of the Approval being granted.

- Disadvantages of Rank:

- At this point, a member of E Division has upset any number of supernatural entities. As such, they gain an the Enemy flaw at a value determined by their storytellers.

- Overseer (NPC Only)

The Overseer is the overall head of E Division. They are responsible for guiding the Directors actions across the world and making sure E Division operatives are always where they are needed.

Media Examples:

- The X-Files
- Fringe
- Men in Black

MASQUERADE UNIT TECHNOLOGY ENFORCEMENT (M.U.T.E.)

During the Year of Fire, when demons were running rampant, a large convention was held in New Orleans. While the topics of the Convention were to decide how the Camarilla would address the threats of sudden and rampant infernalism, a mortal, an unknown quantity, began posting videos about their attempts to infiltrate the gathering of Kindred. Through the aid of several Malkavian seers and Nosferatu technologists, the threat to the Masquerade was averted, but the topic stuck in the minds of many.

During the Conclave of 2015 in Baltimore, a topic was proposed that with the ever growing threat of the internet and the fact that nearly every mortal had a portable camera in their pocket, a group should be formed to combat this great threat to the Masquerade. Several technologically minded Kindred were brought together and together, they formed this organization with the clear goal of protecting the Kindred world from the prying eyes of the digital age.

Source Material: One World by Night Specific

Nickname: Pre-Crime, M.U.T.E.

Role Within the Camarilla: To protect the Masquerade from digital threats such as leaked videos or hacking attempts.

Authority within the Camarilla: M.U.T.E. serves purely to protect the Masquerade and monitor the internet for potential threats. They should work, at all times, with the Princes and Keepers of the Domains in which they are operating.

Ranks within the Masquerade Unit Technology Enforcement:

- Newb:

- Prerequisites to Join:

- Recruitment by an existing member. Perhaps they've heard of your prowess and wish to see if you are capable and up to the challenge.
- Computers x3
- One influence at 5
- Camarilla Coordinator Notification

- Advantages of Rank:

- Members of M.U.T.E. have access to technological equipment that can be procured with Resources 5.
- When working through M.U.T.E., characters may operate as if they have Fame at two levels higher than their current level (to a maximum of 5).

- Due to the service they provide to the Camarilla, a member of M.U.T.E. enjoys the respect granted to them by the Camarilla. They may claim the Camarilla Title of Specialist. As such, they additionally gain the Honorary Status of Dedicated.
    - Disadvantages of Rank:
      - M.U.T.E. is often required to investigate and clean many risks to the Masquerade. This will likely require interaction with other chronicles throughout the Organization. Players who wish to have their character join this organization should either be willing to travel to other games and/or be active through e-mail and other online communication methods.
  - Support:
    - Requirements for Advancement:
      - Computers x5
      - Three Influences at 5
    - Advantages of Rank:
      - Any communication list that is overseen by M.U.T.E. allows its Tier 2 members to have full access.
      - Support members may receive assist in growing Contacts, Fame, or Influences equivalent to what could be provided by a Mentor x3.
      - Access to the Combination Discipline: Mortal Skin, Road of Humanity, pg. 71
    - Disadvantages of Rank:
      - At this rank, they may become targets of other hackers (mundane or supernatural) at the discretion of their Storytellers.
      - Support members are expected to devote their time and resources to protecting the Masquerade and the Camarilla. They must receive explicit permission before aiding any Kindred not Acknowledged in the Camarilla on any project that does not involve protecting the Masquerade or directly combating the enemies of the Ivory Tower.
  - Elite:
    - Requirements for Advancement:
      - Contacts or Allies at x5
      - Camarilla Coordinator Approval
    - Advantages of Rank:
      - Elite members may have special access to Hermetic Thaumaturgy: Technomancy. The character may purchase Technomancy with no corresponding rituals. The special arrangement M.U.T.E. has with the Tremere allows a unique form of education in this Path.
        - NOTE: This requires Tremere Coordinator and Camarilla Coordinator Approval. While the Tremere are willing to offer this incentive, they do have an interest in ensuring Thaumaturgy is not placed in the wrong hands.
        - It is recommended that Technomancy be purchased at the standard out of clan costs.
      - Characters at this rank will be placed in direct contact to a Fury and an Archon of the Camarilla in order to properly and thoroughly investigate those that have breached the Masquerade.
      - Elite members may receive assistance in growing Contacts, Fame, Resources, or Influences equivalent to what could be provided by a Mentor x5.
    - Disadvantages of Rank:
      - The Tremere have provided Technomancy through a unique process that allows them to govern the powers use. Should an Elite fail in their duties, they may find that access to their Technomancy has been stripped.
        - NOTE: Having this power stripped requires Tremere Coordinator and Camarilla Coordinator Approval. While the Tremere are willing to offer this incentive, they do have an interest in ensuring Thaumaturgy is not placed in the wrong hands.

- Whether the XP costs of the Technomancy are refunded or not remains up to the character's Storytellers.
- The Elite members are often held responsible for the success or failure of the group. As they are additionally working with some of the highest agents of the Camarilla, their failures will likely not go unnoticed. Should character of this rank fail, they will either be demoted and possibly granted the negative status of Warned.
- Root:
  - NPC only
  - At the head of M.U.T.E. sits one who knows the most delicate inner workings of computer system. They are the ultimate hacker, coder, and technological engineer. They perpetually monitor the Internet for threats to the Masquerade and the Camarilla.

Media Examples:

- Minority Report
- Person of Interest

THE IVORY LEGION

The Camarilla has never been a Sect that delights in war efforts and violence, however it does face many enemies and threats. The Ivory Legion came about only recently as a means to manage those threats and protect the Ivory Tower.

The Camarilla's most successful tactics have always been the directed use of intelligence and covert actions. However there are also times when martial prowess is necessary. As such, members of the Legion tend to be skilled spies and information gatherers as well as competent soldiers. The Legion offers those more inclined to espionage a specific path with specific duties, selecting among the best of their ranks to work in counter-intelligence and, some rumors say, even infiltration.

While the Legion considers any threat to the Camarilla one of interest, they are particularly concerned with the actions of the Sabbat, one of the Camarilla's longest standing enemies and other vampire related threats. The Legion tends to work closely with the E Division in threats coming from other creatures, lending martial support should the threat be in a larger scale, such as with the Daeva.

With the advent of the Treaty of Fire, the Consuls, and the need to fight a common enemy, there are moments of calm politics between the Camarilla and the Sabbat, however the Legion is ready should the Sword of Caine rise to do battle. Meanwhile, other organizations within the Legion hunt other threats such as Lupines.

Source Material: One World by Night. Some of the Immunes groups are modified from groups presented in Archons and Templars such as the Dogcatchers (Archons & Templars, pg. 18) and the Doppelgangers (Archons & Templars, pg. 20).

Nicknames: The Legion, The Ivory Shield, The White Hand

Role Within the Camarilla: They are an intelligence service, a military force, and the last line of defense for the Camarilla. When the Camarilla must take up arms, the Legion is often consulted if not tasked with the mission directly.

Authority within the Camarilla: The Legion does not involve itself heavily in the politics of a Domain, their focus is elsewhere. As such, they coordinate their efforts with various different offices within the Camarilla. Working under the auspices of the Imperator, they are also granted a degree of respect for their military ways.

Divisions:

The Legion is broken into three Divisions to more effectively guide and control the group.

The Public Relations and Scandal Division is tasked with:

- Maintaining a positive public image of the Legion within the Ivory Tower.
- Addressing any scandal that may arise involving members of the Ivory Legion that may adversely affect the Legion.
- Receiving requests for Legion assistance.
- Performing any negotiations with Princes, officers of the Camarilla, and other organizations of the Tower as may be necessary.

The Recruitment and Training Division is responsible for:

- Questioning and vetting respective recruits and ensuring existing members are vetted on a regular basis.
- Ensuring that all members of the Ivory Legion receive the training necessary to perform their duties as befitting their respective roles.

Lastly, the Operations/Intelligence Division is responsible for:

- Engaging in, monitoring, and directing Legion operations. This includes all combat operations.
- Acquiring all information concerning mission targets required to smoothly, efficiently, and successfully complete the operation while observing all Traditions of the Camarilla.

Ranks of the The Ivory Legion:

- Milites:
  - Prerequisites to Join:
    - Two skills at x3 from Archery, Blind Fighting, Brawl, Dodge, Firearms, Investigation, Melee, or Throwing.
    - Intermediate in one physical discipline.
  - Advantages of Rank:
    - Acquisition of Mentor up to 2, representing another member of the Legion. This Mentor will specifically be able to teach combat related skills, such as Melee, Dodge, Brawl or Tactics.
    - Due to the service they provide to the Camarilla, a member of the The Ivory Legion enjoys the respect granted to them by the Camarilla. They may claim the Camarilla Title of Legionnaire. As such, they additionally gain the Honorary Status of Valorous.
  - Disadvantages of Rank:
    - All members of the Legion are expected to fight when the need arises. It does not admit members with a Humanity higher than 3.
- Decanus:
  - Requirements for Advancement:
    - Two skills at x5 from Tactics, Archery, Blind Fighting, Brawl, Dodge, Firearms, Investigation, Melee, or Throwing.
    - Advanced in one physical discipline.
  - Advantages of Rank:
    - Access to a Mentor up to 4, representing another member of the Legion. This Mentor will specifically be able to teach up to Advanced in Potence, Celerity, or Fortitude.
    - Access to the Combination Discipline: Iron Facade, Archons & Templars, pg. 140
    - Potential to join the Immunes, specialized members of the Legion.
  - Disadvantages of Rank:
    - Because these members of The Legion must sometimes travel to meet the most pressing threats to the Camarilla, they are forbidden from holding the position of Prince without the express consent from the Emperor or a Legatus.

- Should a member of the Legion at this rank fail to respond to a call to service, they will immediately acquire the negative Status of Warned from a Centurion, Legatus, or the Imperator.
- Centurion:
  - Requirements for Advancement:
    - Three skills at x5 from Archery, Blind Fighting, Brawl, Dodge, Firearms, Investigation, Melee, or Throwing.
    - Tactics x5
    - Advanced in all three physical disciplines.
    - A sworn oath of fealty to the Legion spoken before the Legatus or Imperator
    - Camarilla Coordinator Approval.
  - Advantages of Rank:
    - May issue the negative Status of Warned to lower ranking members
    - Access to a mentor capable of teaching the Advanced level of one of the common Disciplines.
    - Access to the Combination Discipline: Greater Inspire Greatness, Road of Kings, pg. 72
  - Disadvantages of Rank:
    - Should the character break their Oath of Fealty to the Legion, it is expected that they will face some very serious repercussions; possibly including death.
- Immunes: Immunes is a specialized role held by Legionaries of the Decanus rank or higher. They serve as the Legion's specialists and are valued for specific skills. Due to these specific skills they were given additional duties, advantages and disadvantages based on the tasks required of them.

To become an Immunes, a Legionnaire was required to serve at least as the rank of Decanus. Depending on their skill and competency, they would either be directly admitted into the Immunes or they serve in a training role until they were ready (referred to as Discens).

A Legionnaire may only serve in one Immunes role at a given time. While transfers between Immunes roles are not unheard of, they are not common. Any Legionnaire wishing to transfer from one Immunes role to another must receive direct permission from an Immunes of superior rank or directly from the Imperator or Legatus to do so.

- Venatores: This group was originally an informal organization within the Archon unofficially known as “Dogcatchers” however with the rebranding of the Venatores were originally Archons reputed as lupine hunters. Their task is simple, to convince lupines that encroached upon Camarilla territory to do otherwise. They are welcome to use whatever methods they chose, but as can be expected, violence was often the way to go. As such, the Dogcatchers gained quite a reputation as fierce soldiers. Some rumors talk that the Venatores opened up their ranks and joined the Legion to pursue and hunt down those Camarilla citizens that openly treat with the lupines for favors and power or to use them as recruited agents against their enemies. Whether hunting lupines or those that consort with them, the Venatores work tirelessly to ensure that the Camarilla remains vigilant against this threat.
  - Prerequisites to Join:
    - A total of 5 points in Lore in areas associated with lupines (such as Lupine, Garou, Spirit, or Umbra Lore)
    - Have slain at least one lupine single handedly
  - Advantages of Rank:
    - Access to the Combination Discipline: Instantaneous Transformation, Archons & Templars, pg. 143
    - Access to the Combination Discipline: Mortal Terror, Archons & Templars, pg. 142
    - Access to a Mentor x4 for training in the areas required for service that the Storytellers work very closely with the Camarilla Coordinator offices on any Frumentarii actions.

- Legatus (NPC Only): The Legatus serves as a second-in-command to the Imperator and generally handle most of the nightly functions of the Legion.
- Imperator (NPC Only): This is the highest authority among the Legion and as such, they rarely interact with the lower ranks. Most PC interaction will occur with the Legatus.

Media Examples:

- Rome
- Kingsman

CULTS

PHANUEL'S CALL

Phanuel's Call traces its roots to the Path of Illumination that existed during the Dark Ages. For more information consult Road of Humanity. Their name derives from the believe that it was the angel Phanuel who offered the promise of Golconda. They follow an alternate version of the Path of Humanity, which grew out of the Path of Illumination. As they believe that guilt is an obstacle to be overcome, the Path espouses Conviction rather than Conscience.

Overview of Core Beliefs

Note: Players and Storytellers: The below tenets represent the core principles of Phanuel's Call. Countless different interpretations and applications exist. In fact, no two members are likely to completely agree in all points. Players are encouraged to take the below list as a starting point in creating their individual philosophy.

- Vampires are an elevated form of humanity. The ultimate goal is for every soul to attain the enlightenment of Golconda.
- The historical accuracy of the Book of Nod is far less important than the spiritual interpretation of the texts.
- The path to enlightenment is an individual journey. Strict adherence to external laws of religion or government is a false morality if the primary motive is a fear of punishment. A moral individual will do the right thing without hope of reward and will refrain from committing evil even if he can do so with impunity.
- Enlightenment is achieved through reason. Those seeking it should constantly question their beliefs and be able to defend their position.
- Golconda can only be reached after a Kindred has removed all desire to rule or control others.
  - Followers of the philosophy are of two minds on this point. Some feel that a Kindred must not seek or hold any position of leadership as doing so feeds the selfish nature of the Beast and thus is an insurmountable barrier to achieving harmony.
  - While equally passionate in their condemnation of tyranny and lust for power, others believe that there is no evil in the position of authority itself, but rather the motivations of the individual. They maintain that refusing to lead if one truly is the best qualified is counter to both reason and the communal good.
  - Nearly all philosophers find the concept of Blood Bonds, Conditioning, and other forms of control abhorrent.
- Spending time around other vampires tests the Beast and helps bring it into balance. While periods of isolated meditation are valuable, social interaction is necessary. The ultimate goal of Golconda brings a vampire into harmony both within himself and with all the world around him.
- Violence toward others is the ultimate form of seeking control. It should only be used as a last resort.
  - What constitutes "justifiable violence" is a matter of debate within the philosophy. Some followers practice extreme pacifism, maintaining that violence is never a moral option. Others believe that it is justified in cases of self-defence.
  - A smaller portion believes that violence is acceptable to serve the greater good. Some individuals are so corrupt and far from Enlightenment that they endanger others from reaching it. Removing such individuals is an act of kindness.
- "Diablerie" is always called Amaranth. It is not consuming the soul, but rather the vampiric essence. If a vampire has become too corrupted or harmful to society, the only acceptable form of execution is through Amaranth, as it preserves the vampiric essence while leaving the soul "clean" to either move on or start fresh.

Ranks within the Phanuel's Call

A central tenet of Phanuel's Call emphasises that the journey of enlightenment is unique to the individual.

More advanced members are respected and often sought for guidance, but they have no formal authority over others. While they may give suggestions and advice, they cannot issue orders with any expectation of being obeyed.

- Alive (Grade 1)
  - Prerequisites to Join:
    - The initiates members are just beginning their path toward enlightenment. They may come from any Clan, Path, or background.
    - Most vampires join by seeking out an active member. The group is always looking for potential students. However, they are unlikely to know many other members of Phanuel's Call, as initiates are not fully trusted until they convert to Path of Diamond.
    - PCs may start at this level with Camarilla Coordinator Notification
  - Advantages of Rank: Access to a mentor for conversion to Path of Diamonds
  - Disadvantages of Rank:
    - The group is considered heretical by nearly all other vampires. PCs gain the flaw Dark Secret.
    - If their membership in the cult is ever discovered, they gain the Notoriety Flaw.
- Awake (Grade 2): Awake members are considered to have taken the first steps along their journey toward Enlightenment.
  - Requirements for Advancement:
    - Characters on this Rank must follow the Path of Diamonds.
  - Advantages of Rank: Access to a Mentor capable of teaching Nod and Golconda Lore to 2, and Kindred Lore to 4, access to a teacher for the Combination Discipline: Diamond in the Rough
  - Disadvantages of Rank: If a member who reaches this rank ever betrays the group, they gain the flaw Enemy at least at level 2.
- Aware (Grade 3)
  - Requirements for Advancement:
    - Aware members are considered well-established. Lower grade members often look to them for guidance in helping others take their first steps along the path to enlightenment.
    - Must maintain a Path rating of 3
    - Must have assisted in converting at least one Kindred to Path of Diamonds
  - Advantages of Rank: Access to the Combination Disciplines: Beast's Communion and Mortal Skin (Road of Humanity, page 70). Access to a Mentor capable of teaching Nod and Golconda Lore to 4 and Kindred Lore to 5. May purchase merits Efficient Digestion and Gentle Enthrallment (from Road of Humanity, pg. 73) at a cost determined by their storytellers.
  - Disadvantages of Rank:
    - If a member who reaches this rank ever betrays the group, they gain the flaw Enemy x3
- Mindful (Grade 4)
  - Requirements for Advancement:
    - It often takes many years to achieve this level of enlightenment and few progress past this point. They are highly respected by their peers.
    - Must maintain a Path rating of at least 4
    - Must have assisted in converting at least two Kindred to Path of Diamonds
  - Advantages of Rank:
    - Access to a Mentor capable of teaching Nod and Golconda Lore to 5, Access to the Combination Discipline Sooth the Beast
  - Disadvantages of Rank:
    - If a member who reaches this rank ever betrays the group, they gain the flaw Enemy x4

- Enlightened (Grade 5)
  - Requirements for Advancement:
    - Must have achieved and maintained Path rating of 5 for at least six months.
    - Must maintain a Path rating of at least 4 and Conviction 5.
    - Must have assisted in converting at least three Kindred to Path of Diamonds
    - Camarilla Coordinator Approval
  - Advantages of Rank:
    - Access to the Combination Discipline: Fall from the Spire (see below)
  - Disadvantages of Rank:
    - If a member who reaches this rank ever betrays the group, they gain the flaw Enemy x5
- Transcendent (Grade 6, NPC Only): This rank is only achieved once a vampire has reached Golconda. While the group claims several members have reached this rank, few purport to have ever met them.

Final Note to Storytellers

The existence of Phanuel's Call should not be used as “proof” that Golconda is real or be seen as the definitive answer on the subject. This packet is meant to outline a specific group’s opinions, but how much “truth” actually exists in their teachings should be left vague. If STs wish to present Golconda as an achievable goal for their PCs, they may do so under the existing rules in OWbN. Whether or not Phanuel's Call helps or hinders that goal is completely up to the individual chronicle.

Path of Diamond

Followers of this path consider it another branch in the Road of Humanity. They are physically indistinguishable from a vampire of the same path rating on the standard version of Humanity. The Path uses a different hierarchy of sins and Diablerie does not cause automatic degeneration. All other mechanics (such as penalties for interacting with mortals or acting during the day) follow the same rules as Humanity.

The Virtues of the Path of Diamond are Conviction and Self-Control.

Hierarchy of Sins

- 5 - Failure to openly seek Golconda at all costs; Accepting an unjust or immoral ruler; Attempting to control others
- 4 - Intentional injury to mortals; Theft and robbery; Refusing succor to another follower of the Path
- 3 - Accidental killing of a mortal; Failure to pursue enlightenment; Endangering the life of another follower of the Path
- 2 - Purposeful killing of a mortal; Intentionally killing a Kindred in any manner other than attempting Diablerie
- 1 - Casual killing; Denying the possibility of Golconda

Unique Discipline Techniques of Phanuel's Call

Diamond in the Rough

- Prerequisites: Auspex 2, Animalism 3, Presence 1, must follow Path of Diamond
- Cost: 5 XP

This combination Discipline allows a follower of the Path of Diamonds to find other followers of the Path. It can either give the user a general idea of how many followers are nearby or tell if an individual follows the Path.

If used to test an individual, the user makes a static mental challenge against the a difficulty of 3 times the target's Path rating. The user may retest with Investigation. If successful, the user knows if the target follows the Path of Diamonds and if so, may spend an additional mental trait to know the current Path rating. If the target does not follow the Path of Diamonds, the user does not gain any knowledge of what alternate Path the target does follow. For example, this Combo does not allow a user to distinguish between a follower of Path of Humanity and Path of Blood, but it does let the user know that neither Kindred is following Path of Diamonds. In all cases, the target of this power is unaware of its use.

If used to judge if other followers of the Path are in the area, the user spends a number of mental traits and is able to tell how many followers of the path are within a certain distance:

- 1 mental trait: a chronicle's territory, or the city (at ST discretion)
- 2 mental traits: within 5 kilometers
- 3 mental traits: A room

Since players will likely want their membership in Phanuel's Call to remain a secret, they are encouraged to consult a Storyteller to resolve these challenges.

Sooth the Beast

- Prerequisites: Animalism x3, must follow Path of Diamond
- Cost: 10 XP

Spend one Blood point and make a Static test bidding the total of the characters Virtue Ratings (Conviction, Self-Control, and Courage) against a difficulty of 12. The user may retest this challenge with Meditate. If successful, the character is immune to all forms of Frenzy for the following scene or hour. Any Discipline or other power that would normally insight Frenzy fails.

Kindred who have learned this technique are able to spend a blood point instead of a Willpower in order to use Quell the Beast for the purposes of pulling a Kindred out of Frenzy. Willpower must be spent to impose the other normal effects of Quell.

Fall from the Spire

- Prerequisites: Diamond in the Rough, must follow Path of Diamond
- Cost: 10 XP

Phanuel's Call has a special abhorrence for apostates and those who endanger followers by exposing them.

Fall from the Spire can only be used on a follower or former follower of the Path of Diamond.

The user must either touch the target (possibly requiring a Physical challenge) or a vessel containing a trait of the target's blood in which case it can be done from anywhere in the world regardless of the distance between the two vampires. He or she then expresses a condemnation of the target for his or her failures. For example, "You have turned your back on the truth," or "You named other followers to our enemy." The subject will always hear this reason in his or her mind, even if distance or other circumstances would prevent hearing the users actual voice. Any use of Diamond in the Rough upon a character cursed in this manner will similarly reveal the reason.

The user spends a blood trait and mental trait to enact Fall from the Spire. Doing so inflicts the target with the following disadvantages:

- Gain Short Fuse flaw (which stacks should they already have this flaw or the Brujah Clan Disadvantage)
- All blood expenditure costs double
- Lose all Phanuel's Call Combos and Discipline Techniques (refund of XP is at individual Chronicle discretion)

Only the initial user or another character with Fall from the Spire can remove this curse. To do so, they must willingly speak words of forgiveness while allowing the cursed vampire to drink their blood.

Some rumors exist that the curse can be broken by diablerizing the vampire who enacted it. The true followers of Phanuel's Call maintain such story is a lie spread by their enemies in order to encourage censured individuals to rebel against the philosophy rather than seeking to make amends and resume their journey of enlightenment.

EDENIC GROUNDSKEEPERS

Gehenna Cults are not a recent phenomena among the Kindred. Prophecies, occult tomes, and insane ramblings speak of the end times and Gehenna Cultists are those that listen and consider Gehenna to be more than a myth but an inevitability. They work to uncover forbidden lore, find ancient Kindred to slay, and recruit new members to their ranks. The Camarilla does not tolerate nonsense of Gehenna, viewing it as propaganda that the Cults and the Sabbat (which by some definitions is the largest Gehenna Cult of all) use to recruit and turn their members away from the strength of the Ivory Tower.

While there are countless Gehenna Cults, perhaps one of the largest (aside from the Sabbat) is the Edenic Groundskeepers. This group is comprised of many Camarilla Elders who have fashioned themselves as gardeners to destroy the weeds to Kindred society that the Methusalahs and Antideluvians represent. They also seek to limit or eliminate the presence of Caitiff and Thin Bloods, believing their proliferation to be a cause of the end times. While some of the more recent members to their ranks are idealistic enough to think that there is a way to prevent Gehenna, the older, more cynical members realize that there is no stopping it and only possibly a small chance of surviving it by hiding.

Source Material: Gehenna (World of Darkness)

Nicknames: Gardeners

Role Within the Camarilla: They have no official role in the Camarilla, and in fact Josians and Archons are both eager to uncover any members of this group.

Ranks within the Edenic Groundskeepers.

NOTE: As this group varies in size and do not operate on a ranked system, the ranks remain present only to reflect a character's significance to the Cult, and are not an in-character reference to rank. As such, the ranks are simply listed numerically.

- Rank 1:
  - Prerequisites to Join:
    - Noddist Lore x2, Kindred Lore x2,
    - Introduced into the Cult by another member.
    - Camarilla Coordinator Notification
  - Advantages of Rank:
    - Access to the Combination Discipline: Measure the Will, Road of Humanity, pg.
  - Disadvantages of Rank:
    - Gehenna Cults are not tolerated in the Camarilla. Characters gain the flaw Dark Secret.
- Rank 2:
  - Requirements for Advancement:
    - Noddist Lore x3, Kindred Lore x3.
  - Advantages of Rank:
    - Access to a mentor capable of teaching the advanced level of one of the common Disciplines.
  - Disadvantages of Rank:
    - At this point, the member has garnered enough lore and heard enough rhetoric from the other Gardeners that they are truly terrified. Upon achieving this level of initiation, the character gains the derangement Paranoid of Ancients.
    - The Elders within the Edenic Groundskeepers are paranoid and powerful. Any character reaching this Rank will have Chain the Psyche used on them to ensure their secrecy and loyalty to the cause.
- Rank 3:

- Requirements for Advancement:
  - Camarilla Coordinator Approval.
- Advantages of Rank:
  - Access to mentors capable of teaching the advanced level of any of the common Disciplines.
  - Access to an Occult Library (either the Background or the Merit, per ST discretion).
- Disadvantages of Rank:
  - If discovered, the character immediately gains the Enemy x5 flaw represented by being a target of the Josians.
  - Those who betray the Cult receive the Flaw: Dark Fate. It is only a matter of time before the powerful Elders destroy them.

OTHER SOCIETIES AND GROUPS

These are groups that are either covered in other genre resources (such as the Hague) or are small enough that they do not need a full write up but deserve mention

THE EYES

This extremely secretive and unknown order is one of the most secretive agencies in the Camarilla. They are operatives hand chosen by the Inner Circle to serve as a sort of Archon Internal Affairs. They watch over the agents of the Camarilla to ensure abuses do not occur.

- Note: The Eyes are not fit for general character portrayal. They do not lend themselves well to regular attendance in gatherings and Elysia. As such, any member of the Eyes, PC or NPC, requires Camarilla Coordinator Approval.

THE HAGUE

This public organization is a Ventrue-led group of Kindred that monitor and record the legal precedents of Camarilla law and policy.

- Prerequisites to Join: Anyone wishing to pursue the Hague should refer to the Ventrue Societies and Orders packet.
- Advantages: Due to the service they provide to the Camarilla, a member of the Hague enjoys the respect granted to them by the Camarilla. They may claim the Camarilla Title of The Right Honorable. As such, they additionally gain the Honorary Status of Esteemed.

LOYAL OPPOSITION

After the signing of the Treaty of Thorns and the Camarilla accepting back those that betrayed their Elders in the first Anarch Revolt, it became public knowledge that while some of the Anarchs paid lip service to the laws and traditions of the Camarilla, many of them were not devout followers and believed they could still buck the system from within. As the Ivory Tower recognizes all Anarchs as its members, several of them have chosen to keep their status and positions within the Camarilla, but those that reveal too much of their true affiliations to the Anarch Movement might find themselves singled out by the authorities of the Camarilla as Malcontents.

- Advantages: A Loyal Opposition character is either logged with their Storyteller as an Anarch or Camarilla. If they they are logged as Anarch, their Sect is considered such for the purposes of certain Regulated Anarch items in the Character Bylaws. If the character is listed as Camarilla and they wish to register fully as Anarch, they must follow the Sect Defection regulations.
- Disadvantages: Known members of the Loyal Opposition will likely end up gaining the Negative Status of Malcontent.

RESOURCE LINKS

- Camarilla Wiki: <http://camarilla.owbn.net/>
- Camarilla Approval Form: https://docs.google.com/forms/d/1wQPOFYUhuJK4DAnxba1XvPzT7w5nOBWc9a3dV-3j3fl/edit?usp=docslist\_api
- Camarilla Organization, Societies, and Cults Membership Form: <https://docs.google.com/forms/d/e/1FAIpQLScDIKN8sDB1md7CfePvqh4YqSMqV9klSuPqm-Ej1ZPAfDcdmg/viewform>
- For more information regarding the different types of Loyal Opposition, please refer to the Non-Binding Political Impulse page on the Anarch Wiki: http://anarch.owbn.net/mediawiki/index.php?title=Political\_Impulses